Newhouse steps into transrail debate

By LIZZIE MCDERMOTT
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Former Selectman and former Town Counsel Michael Newhouse has stated his intention to step into a new role in the New England Transrail debate, and some residents are not happy.

At a Board of Selectmen meeting on Sept. 10, Town Manager Jeffrey Hull read correspondence from Newhouse requesting to appear before the board to represent GFI Group. GFI is proposing a warehousing option at the Olin site, as an alternative to prior New England Transrail proposals.

According to Hull, the idea behind such a proposal would be to allow the board to make a fully informed decision moving forward. As a former municipal official, Newhouse would need the board's permission to represent GFI. Hull recommended that the board accept Newhouse's request for such permission.

"I think there's one thing that probably everybody in

No security in waste disposal right now

By LIZZIE MCDERMOTT

WILMINGTON - Two months have passed since the expiration of Russell Disposal's performance bond, and it still appears there is not end in sight for the industry's woes.

The performance bond, described by Town Manager Jeffrey Hull as "the mechanism that serves as a safety net, if you will," would cover the town's disposal costs if Russell stopped providing waste disposal services altogether. Hull stated that he has sent "multiple" letters to the company to notify them that they are in breach of contract.

The only response, however, has been that, due to uncertainty in the recycling market, its usual bonding company was not willing to

With primary in rearview, Robertson set for November

By CASSIA BURNS
News Correspondent

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON — Last Tuesday, David Robertson, a lifelong Tewksbury citizen, won the Democratic primary to become the Democratic candidate for state representative of the 19th Middlesex District.

Going into the primary, Robertson worked to reach as many voters as possible, taking to the streets and calling voters to make connections. Due to his efforts, he felt confident he had done everything possible to achieve his desired outcome, but due to the depth of the other candidates, he was not sure if it would be enough.

However, on primary day, Robertson was able to see that all of his efforts had indeed been worth it. Winning the primary with 1,341 votes, he was grateful for the votes from his supporters, but he was also glad to see a large amount to residents vote in general, regardless of whether they cast a vote for him, for it demonstrated their urge have a voice within local government.

"I saw folks of all ages, walks of life, and profession show up to make their voices heard about the future of their home," said Robertson. "It's why I believe that our towns are more than just 'towns' but are homes."

Prior to running for state representative this year, Robertson has had much experience learning about the position through years of work alongside late Rep. Jim Miceli.

Before his tragic passing last spring, Miceli had intended to run for reelection this year. Robertson had been an aid of Miceli for several years, working closely with him during his daily tasks and working to solve the issues important to the constituents, regardless of how small.

When thinking about how it would feel to hold Rep. Miceli's former seat, Robertson said that it would be an honor, for he would be able to carry out Miceli's ideals of holding the constituent's needs in the Unopposed but undeterred, Prinzivalli ready for Nov.

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - Last Tuesday, Pina Prinzivalli won the Republican primary for State Representative to represent Wilmington and Tewksbury in the 19th district seat. Prinzivalli ran unopposed in the Republican Party, but in November she'll compete with Democratic nominee David Robertson and Independent Patricia Meuse.

Prinzivalli sent out a Facebook message after the results were released, sharing her thanks for Wilmington and Tewksbury voters, and for "the taxpayers who want to move the 19th Middlesex District in a new direction."

According to an email statement from Prinzivalli's office, it's Prinzivalli's desire to put taxpayers first should she be elected to the House of Representatives.

In the statement, she reminds voters what exactly that would look like.

"We continue to see the majority party wanting to raise taxes and prioritize illegal immigrants by trying to make Massachusetts a Sanctuary State. We can't afford to continue on that path," it reads.

Another part of the current state's politics she wants to fight against is "activist judges who endanger our communities." Instead, she's ready to represent the working families of Wilmington and Tewksbury by saying "no" to the things that take away from their best interests.

Prinzivalli prides herself on being a career professional and not a career politician.

"I'm not running because I need the job; I'm running to the job — the job of putting the taxpayers first, because the taxpayers need a friend on Beacon Hill," she said in an email.

Contrary to her opponents, she shared that she has signed the Taxpayer Protection Pledge to oppose raising taxes; she's pledged to never vote herself a pay raise and to donate any increase in base salary to charity.

WCTV news and notes

By SHAUN NEVILLE
WCTV Executive Director

Wilmington Community Television's Youth Program is ramping back up.

Our Saturday program runs 10:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. for 10 weekends, starting on Sept. 22 and ending in December. It doesn't matter if you're new to WCTV or a repeat participant. We're looking for kids ages 9-14 who want to be creative and have fun. You can find full details and dates at wctv.org/youth-programs. The cost per child is $50.

WCTV also runs after-school programs through the Middle School and Intermediate Schools. Stay tuned to your school principal and/or announcements from details. Those programs meet once per week, either at school or at WCTV. We hope to have the sessions started by the end of September.

Last week, our high school program, Wildcat TV, held its first meeting of the school year. We had a few students show up and sign-ups are ongoing. If you're looking to learn about multimedia production or create videos in and around the high school, let us know. We're looking to build this program into something special!

Wildcat TV is the student pathway to help out with Wilmington High School sports coverage. The first football game is this Friday night and there are varsity sporting events happening every week until graduation. We need camera operators and play-by-play people.

Does ANY of this sound interesting? Contact Youth Director Marty McCue at mmccue@wctv.org for full details or to sign up. Marty is new to WCTV, but brings decades of teaching experience with him. He can't wait to meet Wilmington youth interested in WCTV.

New Programs:

These air on one of WCTV's 3 television stations (Public: Comcast 9/Verizon 37 - Government: Comcast 22/Verizon 38 - Education: Comcast 99/Verizon 39). You can also watch most of them at WCTV.org.

- Board of Selectmen: Monday's meeting included a lengthy discussion on economic development.
- Where's Wilmington: Lisa sits down with a new singing group in town and explains how you can get involved.
- Town Topics: There are a lot of events in September tied to substance abuse awareness. Hear what's going on and how you can help families in need.
- Election Night: Tuesday was Primary Day and it was a VERY close race in the State Rep race.

Upcoming Live:

- WHS Football vs. Bedford: Friday, Sept. 14 - 7 p.m. (WCTV Education)
- Night of Healing & Hope Candlelight Vigil: Monday, Sept. 17 - 7 p.m. (WCTV Public)

Check out WCTV.org for more information on when programs will be televised and how you can get involved at your community television station. Membership is free and there's no time commitment.

Produce a show, help in studio or cover a community event that you care about! We're here to make the process as simple as possible.

It's Your Money

THE FEDERAL ESTATE, GIFT, AND GENERATION-SKIPPING TRANSFER TAX EXEMPTION AMOUNTS INCREASED

In addition to overhauling the taxation of income of partnerships, corporations, and individuals, the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act signed into law on December 22, 2017 ushered in significant changes to the wealth transfer tax system. These changes will create major new opportunities to minimize the tax cost of transferring wealth, beginning in 2018.

Increased Exemption Amounts

Under the new law, effective January 1, 2018, the federal estate, gift, and generation-skipping transfer (GST) tax exemption amounts increased to approximately $11.2 million per individual, up from $5.49 million per individual in 2017. These exemption amounts will continue to be indexed for inflation each year, but by a different, less generous measure than applicable under prior law. The change will reduce the number of multimillion-dollar estates that are subject to the 40 percent federal estate tax. However, the increased exemption amounts only apply for the next 8 years. In the absence of further legislation, on January 1, 2026, the exemption amounts will revert to their pre-2018 exemption levels of $5 million, adjusted for inflation.

The "portability" of a deceased spouse's unused exclusion amount is still available to a surviving spouse, meaning spouses with a combined estate up to approximately $22.4 million in value at the time of the survivor's death will not pay estate tax with the proper planning and estate tax return elections. The basis step-up rules, which adjust the basis of any asset passing from a decedent to the fair market value of that asset as of the decedent's date of death, continue to apply.

Friends' Farm, a big part of the baked bean business

By LARZ F. NEILSON

◀This painting of Friends' Farm shows the farm from behind the buildings, looking east toward Ballardvale Street. The scene was painted by Albie Hall, who used to work for Bob Evans. Evans presented the painting to Jo O'Neil when she was named as one of Wilmington's Good Guys.

Route 93 changed everything.

The years following World War II saw Wilmington in a period of rapid growth. Farmland became subdivisions as men came home from the war and started families.

But the greatest change to the geography of Wilmington was the building of Route 93. And nowhere was there greater change than on Ballardvale Street.

Ballardvale Street today is a four-lane road serving as a busy thoroughfare. 50 years ago, it was a sleepy farm lane that ran from Salem Street to the Andover town line.

The road began right next to the old North School, a little red schoolhouse next to Caleb Harriman's large hayfield. Boy Scouts would meet at the old schoolhouse and hike to Camp Forty Acres, which had an access trail onto Ballardvale Street in Andover. It was possible to walk the entire length of Ballardvale Street and encounter only one or two cars.

The construction of Route 93 cut Ballardvale Street up into several parts, including one stretch that for many years could be seen running through the woods in the middle of one of the ramps.

One of the largest farms on Ballardvale Street was Friends' Farm. It was located on both sides of the road, near where the Charles River Breeding Labs are today.

The farm was owned by the Friend brothers, Victor, Leslie and Robert, who also owned 48 bakery stores, three bakery plants in Melrose, Lynn and Boston and a beanery in the Maplewood section of Malden. The brand name of Friends' Beans still exists today, although it has been sold many times over.

The Friend brothers bought the farm in 1920 to serve as a piggery. They collected stale baked goods from their bakeries and took them to the farm where they were fed to pigs. The pigs then became the pork in the baked beans.

The Friends bought the place from Joseph Stack, who had farmed it for many years. Two of Stacks daughters lived out their years in Wilmington. Ethel Williams and Florence O'Donnell lived in a little house on Andover Street next to Ainsworth Road.

The Friend brothers hired a man named Bill Rodden to run the farm. He had worked at Lowell General Hospital before coming to the farm.

Two of the Friend brothers would come to the farm about every other day. Rodden was clearing land, and the Friends would dynamite the stumps and boulders. They cleared about 100 acres, opening a large field between Ballardvale Street and the railroad tracks.

Victor Friend built a summer cottage on the right side of the street, up on the hill. He bult a tower next to the cottage, and from the tower, you could see the Congregational Church. With binoculars, you could see the clock.

Rodden had four daughters. The oldest was Dorothy, and she married Phil Park. They had 21 children, raised in a rather spartan environment in a small house on Ballardvale Street.

Every day, the stale baked goods would arrive by horse and wagon. One young man hired to drive that wagon was Maurice O'Neil, whose uncle, John MacKenzie, was the superintendent of plants for the Friends' bean operations.

Maurice, known as "Dice," married the youngest of Bill Rodden's daughters, Josephine. They lived on High Street, and she was named as one of Wilmington's "Good Guys" about 40 years ago. Dice sold cars for Gildart Chevrolet, and later became a clerk at the Water Department. Dice and Jo had no children, but he liked to say he always had plenty of nephews to mow the lawn.

When the Depression hit, the Friend brothers had some of the help build a brick silo in the field. Brick is not a good material for a silo, since air is needed for bacterial action in the silage. But the silo was actually an advertising piece. They put the Friends Beans logo on the silo, and thousands of people would see it every day as they rode by on the train.

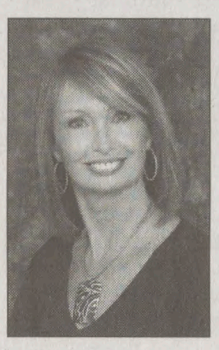

The remains of the silo were demolished about 20 years ago when the farm was developed into an industrial park.

Bill Rodden was at one time a candidate for selectman in Wilmington. He died in 1934, after which his widow moved to Reading with Josephine.

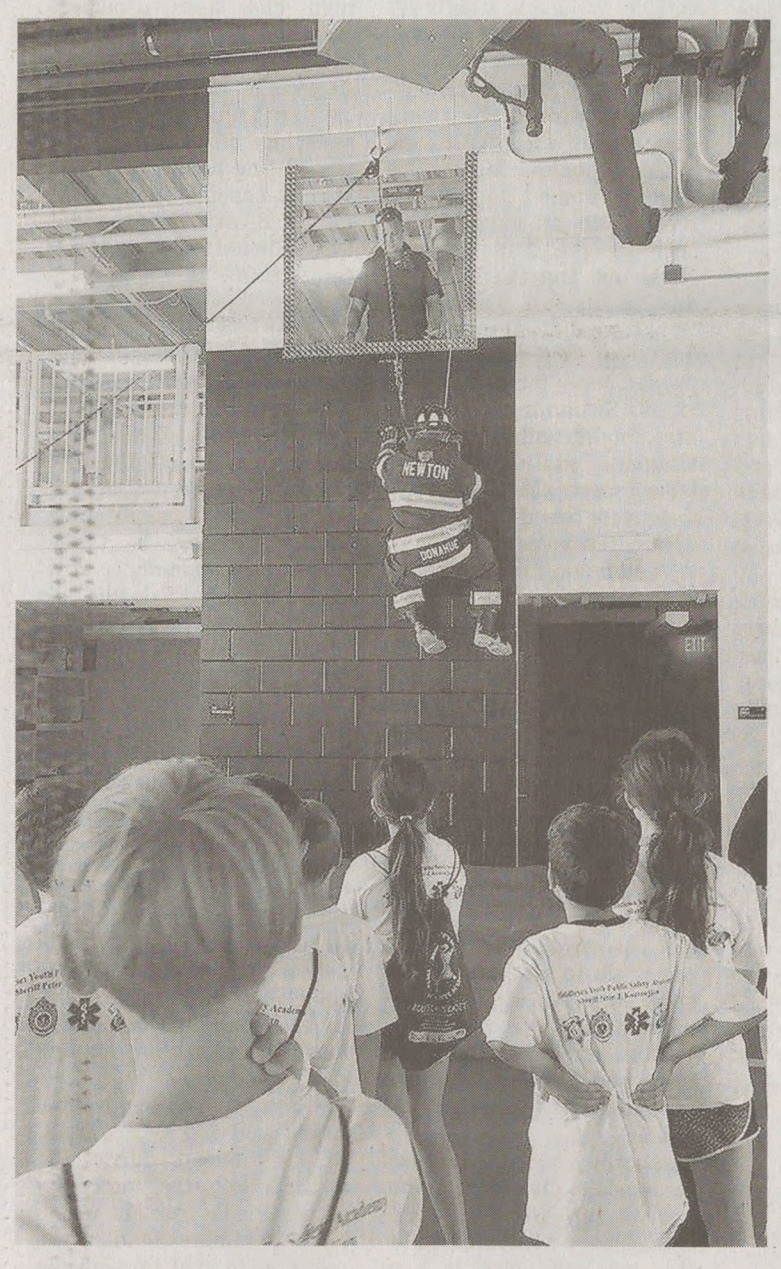

The farm was sold to Bob Evans in the late 1930's. Evans had a chicken farm down the street. Between the two farms, he had a couple of hundred acres. Evans had a man working for him named Albie Hall. At one point there was a fire in the Evans' farmhouse, and Albie went to live in a trailer up at Friends' Farm. While he was there, he painted a view of the farm.

Evans rented out the farmhouse at Friends' farm. The Shelleys lived there in the 1950s — not the recently retired Officer Bob Shelley, but his cousins, Mike, Bob, Joanne and Margaret.

In the mid-1960s, an arsonist was busy in Wilmington. The town lost many of its old homes and barns, and Friends' Farm was among the places that were torched.

19th annual Youth Public Safety Academy complete

CHELMSFORD — Middlesex Sheriff Peter J. Koutoujian thanked the cadets, families and community partners involved in the Middlesex Sheriff's Office 19th Youth Public Safety Academy (YPSA) this summer. Over 1,300 youngsters applied for this year's summer camp, with over 1,050 participating.

"YPSA is a true community program — it's about our kids, our officers and firefighters, and our hometowns," said Sheriff Koutoujian. "I am so happy we could welcome over 1,000 children to the Middlesex Sheriff's Office this year to learn safety skills, challenge themselves and make new friends with classmates and officers alike."

YPSA cadets experience a week full of activities structured around team building, safety education and engagement with law enforcement officials. This year, cadets came from 44 Middlesex County communities, including Acton, Arlington, Ashland, Ayer, Bedford, Belmont, Billerica, Boxborough, Burlington, Cambridge, Chelmsford, Concord, Dracut, Dunstable, Everett, Framingham, Groton, Hopkinton, Hudson, Lexington, Littleton, Lowell, Malden, Marlborough, Maynard, Medford, Melrose, Natick, Newton, North Reading, Reading, Sherborn, Shirley, Somerville, Stoneham, Stow, Tewksbury, Tyngsborough, Waltham, Watertown, Wakefield, Westford, Woburn and Wilmington.

Officers and firefighters from many of these communities joined cadets throughout the camp. Several public and private organizations also provided educational resources, including AT&T of Massachusetts, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF), Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), the Massachusetts Department of Fire Services (DFS), the North Eastern Massachusetts Law Enforcement Council (NEMLEC), and the National Park Service (NPS).

This year, a $23,500 grant from the Executive Office of Public Safety and Security (EOPSS) allowed the Middlesex Sheriff's Office to accept an additional 146 cadets from its waitlist as well as hire additional staff.

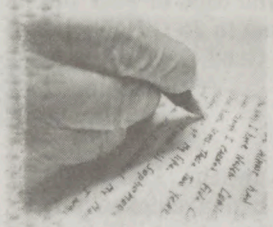

"We are incredibly grateful for the support of EOPSS and all of the 72 public and private organizations who assisted with this year's Academy," said Sheriff Koutoujian. "They truly make YPSA the success that it is, and we hope to have all of them back next summer as we celebrate our 20th year."

Registration for next year's YPSA is expected to open in early March, 2019. For information on the Academy and the Middlesex Sheriff's Office's other community-based programming, please visit middlesexsheriff.org/community.

OPINION

Letters to the editor

Robertson thanks supporters for opportunity

To the voters and residents of the 19th Middlesex,

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to earn your vote in the general election. Many months ago I entered the race eager and ready to present a list of challenges, and solutions to them, to our towns. Given the number of qualified candidates, political climate, and more I would be lying to you if I said I wasn't cautious, yet still optimistic. I knew our odds were good, but it was a crowded field with decades of political experience in all capacities among the candidates, and it would be a tough race.

But as the campaign moved forward I met more and more of you; my neighbors, business owners, teachers, coaches, retirees, veterans, and more. Every person I met gave me a different perspective, idea, opinion, and most importantly, hope. As I touched upon in a talk to a group of supporters I felt great after a busy father, returning from work on a Saturday, took time to disagree with me as I was doorknocking. It was civil, but for a tradesmen exhausted and filthy from a days work on a roof to take time to stop and have a conversation was in a strange way, an honor. It meant that he, in all that he had to do after a tough day, thought it was worth his time to hear me out. To me, that meant the world.

As we move towards November I look forward to meeting more of you, and seeing what I can do to help you and your families, friends, and neighbors of your own.

I would be amiss if I did not thank my campaign committee, volunteers, and supporters. Without them and their literal countless hours of work I would not have the privilege of writing this letter. I would also like to thank not only the folks who placed their trust in me with their vote, but to thank all voters in the primary elections. Primary elections can sometimes be overlooked, but they are important, and for those who took the time to support any candidate by holding signs, calling, or voting I thank you. Even if your candidate didn't win the process of voting is important in keeping candidates held to their districts beliefs and ideas, which makes our hometowns even better.

I look forward to meeting and talking to many of you as we move to the general election. Until then, thank you again, and best wishes.

David A Robertson

Free family history mini-conference

LYNNFIELD — An increasing number of people are learning more about themselves through DNA tests and family history research. There are websites offering access to billions of records for people to use to trace their roots. There is software, as well as a variety of classes and programs, to help. Exciting, even addictive to some, the pursuit of ancestors and family origins is a mystery to others who have no idea where to start.

Upcoming on Sept. 29, is a free opportunity open to everyone to learn more about how to begin research, about technology and online tools, learning from DNA tests, and New England records from professional genealogists.

This Family Research Day Mini-Conference, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., is co-sponsored by the Essex Society of Genealogists and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (the largest genealogy organization in the world), which is hosting the event at its meetinghouse at 400 Essex St. in Lynnfield.

Stories about discoveries through DNA tests may be heard all around the region. Suzanne Smith of Tewksbury said that after she and her husband had tests done, they gave them as presents to their children and their spouses.

When one daughter-in-law who identified herself as half Mexican and half European got her results back, "she realized she was a 'child of the world.' Her ancestors hail from Great Britain, Northeastern Mexico & South Texas, Western & Central Mexico, Europe South, Scandinavia, Iberian Peninsula, Ireland/Scotland/Wales, Finland/Northwest Russia, Africa North, Europe East, European Jewish and the Middle East!"

Another daughter-in-law expected the reported 34 percent Asian ethnicity, but was surprised to learn her second highest source of DNA was Polynesia.

"She said the DNA test was her best birthday gift ever! For our family, DNA adds another insight into who we are. It's one more source that we can use as genealogists to tell our story."

Winchester's Lori Lyn Price, who will present a class at the mini-conference, commented that "on paper, my ancestry is 99 percent British, with a smattering of ancestors from other Western European countries. I was surprised when my DNA ancestry came back as largely Scandinavian, until I remembered that the Vikings invaded England and then stayed and married English women. That was a fun experience."

DNA identifies ethnicity as each individual inherits it. Greta Malstrom of Tewksbury noted, "Both my sisters and two cousins and I decided to have our DNA tested and so we sent them in separately. When they came back, they immediately found and noted us as sisters and first cousins. It was interesting that there was a large range in our percentages of Irish which we thought would all be close to the same."

DNA can also help find relatives. In Wilmington, Joe Jackson said, "I took the DNA test mostly out of curiosity. I expected to be fully identified as having genetics from England but was surprised to see two-thirds of my make-up is represented in Western Europe (France) and Wales, and about a sixth from England and a sixth from Scandinavia.

"It was neat to see that Ancestry traced my ancestors' migrations as well, and lined me up with Early American Settlers, and early Tennesseans. The bonus was finding out that I have second and third cousins in West Tennessee I was unaware of that are also hooked into Ancestry.com. I look forward to trading information with them about our common ancestors."

Jackson added that "I need to figure out what more to do with the DNA results I have on file and hope that these workshops will point me in the right direction."

Research

DNA results go only so far. DNA does not tell you the names of your ancestors or why they came to America, how many kids they had, whether they were farmers or merchants, whether Revolutionary War soldiers or Civil War veterans, or many other details people want to know to learn about their heritage.

Thus, the mini-conference also has classes on climbing your family tree, records, and research. An outline of the offerings is available, along with more information at www.familyresearchday.com.

It is no surprise to find the Church of Jesus Christ involved in this event. For well over a century, the Church has been actively gathering, preserving, and sharing a vast number of genealogical records worldwide.

It offers free access to its resources and services online at FamilySearch.org, one of the most heavily used genealogy sites on the Internet, due to a deep-rooted belief that families are meant to be central to our lives, that family relationships are intended to continue beyond this life, and that all family members, past, present, and future, share an enduring bond that reaches across the generations.

The Essex Society of Genealogists, founded in 1975, has served Massachusetts' genealogical community with live educational presentations, genealogical projects, and publications to facilitate research in this fascinating, historical region. It also has a Web site, www.esog.org.

Although the event is free, attendees are asked to register (for a head count), by visiting the Web page, www.familyresearchday.com

National Honor Society tutoring: Why you should care

By MATT FRONDUTO
TMHS Correspondent

To all the students or parents who are reading this right now, I'd like to propose a question. Are you (or your child) aware that every Friday morning and Tuesday afternoon, the National Honor Society sends representatives to the library as a streamlined way to tutor students who are in need of academic assistance?

Chances are, the answer would be no, because for whatever reason, tutoring is the branch of the National Honor Society that is so often forgotten, and that is nothing short of an injustice.

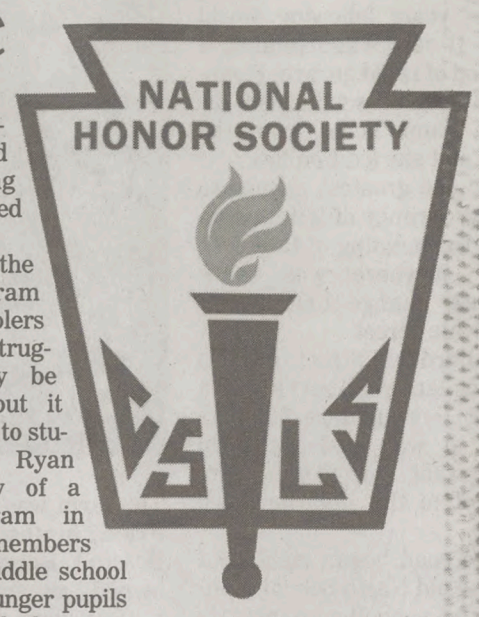

Now, it should be disclosed without proceeding further, as the Vice President of the National Honor Society, I am heavily involved in organizing and facilitating the entire tutoring process, and while one could claim that this only serves to bias me, I would disagree. I think that, to make this remark, it would be to ignore the fact that my position has allowed me to see the vast benefits of the tutoring program — benefits that I would have otherwise never had the chance to experience.

Foremost, it seems necessary to mention the tremendous upside of student-on-student tutoring, as it not only relieves the possible intimidation some may feel when in a one-on-one setting with their teacher, but it also gives students the chance to learn from someone who operates more on their level, so to speak.

Essentially, it is easier for people to connect, generally, with people who are of a similar age demographic, which certainly makes the tutoring experience easier and more engaging for both involved parties.

Not only does the tutoring program assist high schoolers with academic struggles they may be experiencing, but it also reaches out to students at the Ryan School by way of a tutoring program in which NHS members travel to the middle school itself to aide younger pupils in areas in which they may not be fully grasping the material.

In addition to this already net-positive situation, NHS welcomes requests for private, individual tutors, which can be arranged as easily as calling the Guidance Department of Tewksbury Memorial High School.

So, no matter where you or your child falls on the age spectrum, the National Honors Society can and will find a tutor for you, and trust me, with an NHS student comes not only intelligence, but also a desire to assist the learning process of other students in any possible way, shape, or form.

Additional West Nile Virus confirmed in mosquitoes from Tewksbury and Wilmington

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON — The Massachusetts Department of Public Health (MDPH) announced that West Nile virus (WNV) has been detected in mosquito samples collected from Tewksbury on Aug. 28, 2018. The virus was also detected in Mosquitoe samples collected from Wilmington.

Last Thursday, the Central MA Mosquito Project conducted targeted mosquito spraying in both communities. Spraying began after sunset and ended by midnight.

WNV is most commonly transmitted to humans by the bite of an infected mosquito. The mosquitoes that carry this virus are common throughout the state, and are found in urban as well as more rural areas. While WNV can infect people of all ages, people over the age of 50 are at higher risk for severe infection.

By taking a few, commonsense precautions, people can help to protect themselves and their loved ones:

Avoid Mosquito Bites

• Be Aware of Peak Mosquito Hours. The hours from dusk to dawn are peak biting times for many mosquitoes. Consider rescheduling outdoor activities that occur during evening or early morning. If you are outdoors at any time and notice mosquitoes around you, take steps to avoid being bitten by moving indoors, covering up and/or wearing repellant.

• Clothing Can Help reduce mosquito bites. Although it may be difficult to do when it's hot, wearing long-sleeves, long pants and socks when outdoors will help keep mosquitoes away from your skin.

• Apply Insect Repellent when you go outdoors. Use a repellent with DEET (N, N-diethyl-m-toluamide), permethrin, picaridin (KBR 3023), IR3535 or oil of lemon eucalyptus [p-methane 3, 8-diol (PMD)] according to the instructions on the product label. DEET products should not be used on infants under two months of age and should be used in concentrations of 30 percent or less on older children. Oil of lemon eucalyptus should not be used on children under three years of age. Permethrin products are intended for use on items such as clothing, shoes, bed nets and camping gear and should not be applied to skin.

Mosquito-Proof Your Home

• Drain Standing Water. Many mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water. Limit the number of places around your home for mosquitoes to breed by either draining or getting rid of items that hold water. Check rain gutters and drains. Empty any unused flowerpots and wading pools, and change water in birdbaths frequently.

• Install or Repair Screens. Some mosquitoes like to come indoors. Keep them outside by having tightly-fitting screens on all of your windows and doors.

While the Health Department continues to work closely with the MDPH and other agencies, locally we have continued to educate the public at town events such as the 2018 National Night out and the Bike Rodeo/Health Fair. The Health Department encourages residents to self-police their properties for breeding areas. Swimming pool owners should ensure unused stagnant swimming pools have proper chemical levels to prevent breeding.

Property owners can also take advantage of the Central MA Mosquito program of picking up discarded car/truck tires. All questions regarding services by the CMMCP should be directed to their web site https://www.cmmcp.org/ Phone: (508) 393-3055

Information about WNV and reports of current and historical WNV virus activity in Massachusetts can be found on the MDPH website at: www.mass.gov/dph/mosquito. Up to date testing results http://www.mosquitoresults.com/

Additional recommendations and facts on Mosquito spraying as provided by CMMCP

Generally, there is no need to relocate during mosquito control spraying. The pesticides have been evaluated for this use and found to pose minimal risks to human health and the environment when used according to label directions. Although mosquito control pesticides pose low risks, some people may prefer to avoid or further minimize exposure. Some common sense steps to help reduce possible exposure to pesticides include:

• People who suffer from chemical sensitivities or feel spraying may aggravate a preexisting health condition, should consult their physician and take special measures to avoid exposure if they feel this is necessary. (Please check this link to find out how to exclude your property:https://www.cmmcp.org/pesticideinformation/pages/pesticide-exclusion)

• Close street-facing windows and turn off the "outside air" setting (if any) on window air conditioners when spraying is taking place in the immediate area. (Central air units do not take in outside air, it's OK to leave them on. You may open windows 15-20 minutes after the application, or longer at your discretion)

• Do not let children play near or behind truck-mounted applicators when they are in use. Pets should be brought inside if possible or their cages covered to allow a more thorough application to be performed — any accidental exposure to pets should not cause a problem, we are using a pesticide similar to ones used for flea and tick control.

• Spraying will begin after sunset and end by midnight. Remain indoors during the application to the immediate area. (Please remain inside for 15-20 minutes to allow the pesticide to drift through the area, or longer at your discretion)

Travel to Cancun for beaches and blue water

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent
paige@yourtowncrier.com

Cancun, Mexico has become one of the most popular vacation destinations in the world. People from around the globe flock to a tiny stretch of coast which is just south of the Florida panhandle.

The state of Quintana Roo and the city of Cancun along the Yucatan Peninsula is bustling and growing at a rapid clip. The Zona Hotelera, or hotel zone, is a short ride from the airport and visitors are able to get to their lodging quickly via taxis or courtesy vans, making arrival accessible and convenient.

Instantly the warm air and tropical surroundings set the mood for the beach and outdoor activities, and a sense of relaxation and fun is in the air. The strip of land where the hotel zone is located is incredibly narrow, supporting a roadway, line of hotels, and the waterfront in a 13 mile arc. Millions of tons of sand have been pumped in to create the white sand beaches and restore what nature has eroded.

Recent warnings about violence in Cancun are not specific to the hotel zone, but rather the city proper which is several miles away, boasting a whopping 600,000-plus residents in an area which was otherwise sparsely populated as recently as the 1970s.

Tourists who stick to the main hotel areas and exercise the same level of awareness as in any major city or resort area will have no issue taking a walk to a nearby market or shopping area. There are also frequent buses which, for a few pesos, will take you up and down the main thoroughfare to view other hotels, shops and restaurants.

Coastal waters are warm and clear, reflecting off of a white sand bottom. The blues and greens are jewel-like and the waves are perfect for bodysurfing. The amazing colors are tied to the varying depths of the bottom and the clarity of water, in addition to the abundant phytoplankton which adds a green hue.

Vendors along the beach offer jet skiing and parasailing opportunities on a whim or they can be arranged in advance through the hotels. Most of the resorts have one or more swimming pools in addition to their beach access, and chaises are offered on the sand with umbrellas or canopies to help shield the sun.

Coconut palms burst with fruits, and shore birds such as pelicans, cormorants, frigates and plovers revel in the bounty of the sea. Palms are not native to Mexico but are quite happy in the climate. Sea turtles are in the waters offshore and sometimes come up on the beaches at the different resorts, and can be seen in the waters offshore as well. Deep sea fishing excursions are available for those seeking barracuda, tuna, grouper and red snapper.

Catamaran trips to nearby Isla Mujeres are popular and provide the chance to snorkel in the Caribbean Sea. The water is clear to the bottom and corals and fish are easily viewed, though not abundant.

An art installation comprised of hundreds of sculptures is submerged near the Manchones Reef in an effort to divert divers away from the actual reef, an area that has suffered much damage due to the significant number of visitors and sunscreen leaching off the skin of snorkelers. Sunscreen is one of the newest eco hazards in the oceans, washing off of bodies and causing the bleaching of corals, as an aside.

On the island, iguanas bask in the sun right on the rocks, affording an up-close encounter for nature lovers. Shops and restaurants line the streets of the island and golf carts are a common way to get around on the tiny, four-mile-long island. Other excursions to consider are exploring Mayan ruins in Tulum and Chichen Itza, arranged through tour operators that work with hotels.

Should your travels take you to Cancun sometime, consider getting out a bit away from the hotels and seek some of the natural elements specific to the Yucatan and the Caribbean Sea.

Viajes seguros — safe travels!

Fall isn't just for football, it's for gardening, too

By HEATHER BURNS
News Correspondent

As the warm summer comes to an end, and the cool crisp air takes its place, you can see signs in your garden that the growing season is coming to an end. The summer annuals start to fade away and the harvest of your vegetable crops are almost done. There is nothing left to do in the garden except clean up until next spring.

Well, surprisingly, planting isn't just a spring time activity. In fact, there are many benefits to fall planting. The cool fall temperatures are easier on both the plants and the gardener. Fall typically has better weather for planting, and even though the air is cooler, the soil is still warm, allowing roots to grow until the ground is frozen.

There is no need to fertilize in the fall, as fertilizer promotes new growth, and in the fall you want your plants to get ready to go dormant for the winter. No need to do the dreaded chore of weeding, as weed season is mostly dormant by the time fall planting begins. Pests and disease are also not a problem in the fall.

Fall can also be bargain time at local garden centers. Plant nurseries will often discount many plants, shrubs, and trees to reduce inventory before the winter.

The fall planting season is from September to late October, before a hard frost. That gives gardeners a window of about six weeks to plant, and there are many plants to choose from that do better with a fall planting.

Your favorite spring bulb plants need a period to go dormant in order to bloom. Winter is the perfect rest time they need to have a beautiful spring showcase. Tulips and Iris are always springtime favorites, but if deer and other animals like to eat bulbs in your garden, try planting Daffodil, Grape Hyacinth, Allium, or Snowdrop bulbs, as many critters don't like to eat these bulbs.

Because the soil is still warm enough for root development, fall is the perfect time to plant trees and shrubs. Make sure to keep newly planted trees and shrub properly watered until the ground freezes, as they need to get a good start before they go dormant for the winter.

When planting rose bushes in the fall, you can enjoy the blooms while they last, but be sure to cut back new growth at the first frost, and cover the base of the plant with fallen leaves or mulch to protect it from the cold through the winter.

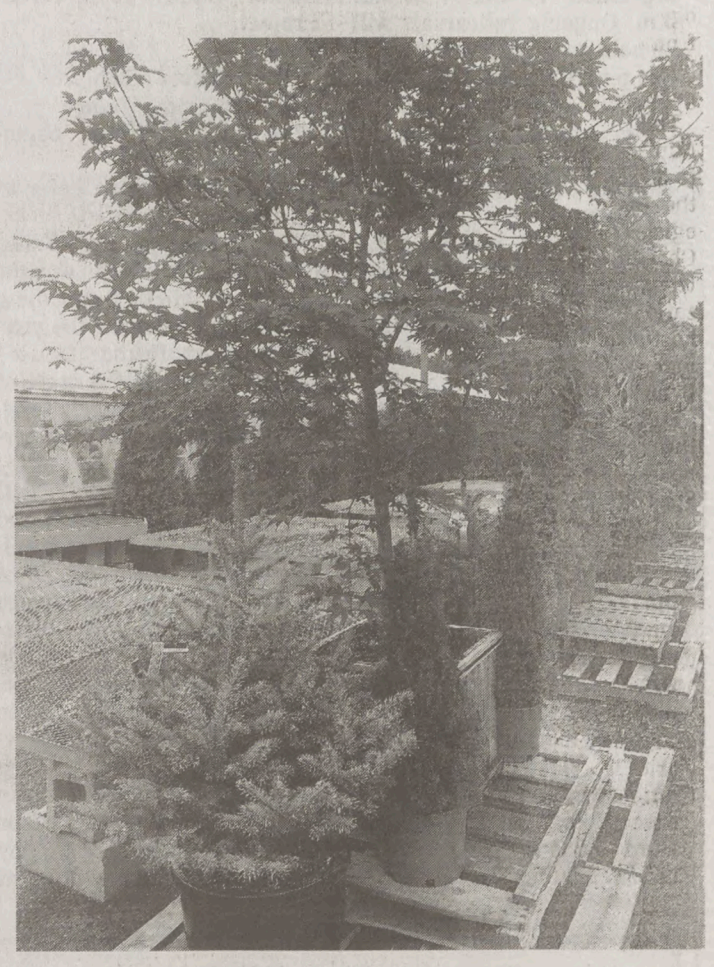

Perennials can also be planted or transplanted in the fall. It is also an ideal time to divide and plant Hostas. All fall planted perennials should be sufficiently watered until the ground freezes. Even though the plants will look like they are fading out for the winter, you need to keep the root systems healthy and strong.

Fall is a great time to do most lawn chores, including reseeding turf grass. Cool season grass such as Bluegrass, Fescue, and Ryegrass should be watered regularly until established, and fertilized in early September, and again in late October.

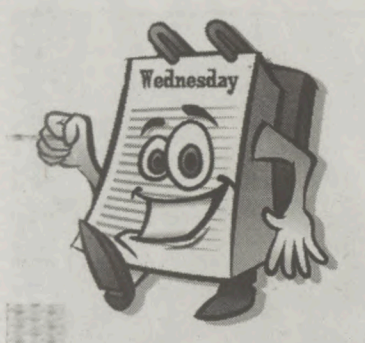

What about your favorite fall Chrysanthemums? Even though they can be seen at almost every front door step in early fall, boasting bright fall colors, fall is not an ideal time to plant mums. Garden mums are best planted in the spring so that they can get fully established before the winter. Pots of mums that are already in bloom probably won't survive the winter if you plant them in the fall.

If you take the time to do some fall planting before the first hard frost, your newly planted grass, trees, shrubs or flowers will have the chance to get settled in their "new home" during the winter months. Then you will be rewarded with a beautiful display of color and lush green to enjoy throughout the spring and summer months.

Your Two Cents...

Tewksbury resident assisted by 'wonderful people'

I wanted to thank Josh of Martineau's Towing. Just as I got my car stuck on top of a 12" high median strip, Josh happened to be driving by. I waved to him and he stopped, called AAA for me (Martineau's is a AAA company), and then, without judging me, he spent a grueling hour using blocks and chocks and planks and straps to lift my car onto his tow ramp and then back down to the road.

He was patient and kind and doggedly determined to minimize the damage to my car. I couldn't believe it when I was actually able to drive my car home with no damage. Two ladies, Diane and Jen, stopped to lend me emotional support and I thank them also.

There are some wonderful people out there and they should be recognized.

Thank you Josh, Diane and Jen.

OBITUARIES

Charlotte J. (Johnson) Atamian

Worked as librarian at Swain School

Charlotte J. (Johnson) Atamian, age 82, a long-time resident of Wilmington, passed away on Sept. 7, 2018 at the Lahey Clinic in Burlington.

Charlotte was born on Aug. 15, 1936 in Honolulu, Hawaii; she was the cherished daughter of the late Louis C. and Dorothy "Phyllis" (Casterton) Johnson.

Charlotte's family lived in Virginia until she was 12, then moved to North Kingstown, RI. She graduated from North Kingstown High School and following graduation, Charlotte went to the University of Rhode Island. She earned her Bachelor's Degree in Early Childhood Development.

Charlotte went to work as a teacher at the Boston Floating Hospital, which is now known as Tufts for a few years.

Charlotte met her husband, Harry N. Atamian at the Old Cambridge Baptist Church. They had an instant connection and after dating for a few months, Harry proposed to Charlotte. The couple got married on Aug. 23, 1958; they just celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

Charlotte and Harry moved to Wilmington in November of 1959, where they raised their three children: Gary, Sharon and Charles.

After Charlotte's children went to school, Charlotte worked as a substitute teacher in the Wilmington School system, then as the librarian at the Swain School for many years before taking a job as an administrative assistant with Fisk MedScience, then for Computervision.

Charlotte's kind and warm personality made her a good fit everywhere she worked.

Charlotte was a people person; she really enjoyed social gatherings and being active in the community. She was very involved in the Union Congregational Church in North Reading. One of her special tasks was to send out cards on behalf of the church; she was always being mindful of the recipient and sent the card with the gender appropriate stamp; flowers for women, flags for men. Charlotte always took the extra mile to show she cared.

Charlotte had an open-door policy at her house. Everyone was welcome and she treated everybody as if they were family, including her children's friends.

In her spare time, Charlotte was an avid reader. She also liked to spend time in her garden and looked forward to her Friday coffee trips with her friend, Peggy.

Charlotte will be remembered for her kind and caring personality. She will be missed by her family and friends.

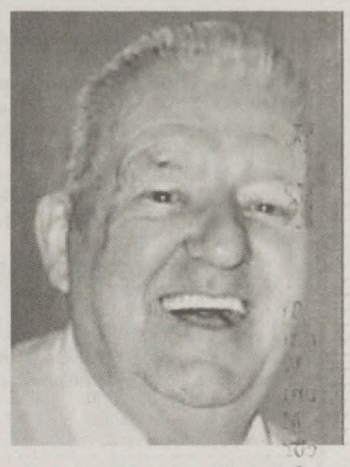

Charlotte was the beloved wife of Harry N. Atamian, devoted mother of Gary Atamian & his wife Cathy of Derry, NH, Sharon Atamian of Salem, NH and Charles Atamian of Derry, NH, cherished daughter of the late Louis C. and Dorothy "Phyllis" (Casterton) Johnson, dear sister of William E. "Ted" Johnson & his wife Margaret of N. Kingstown, RI, loving aunt of Pamela M. Shea, Walter "Richard" Johnson and Deborah L. Miller.

Family and friends gathered for Visitation at Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave., (Rt. 62), Wilmington on Tuesday, Sept. 11 from 4 - 8 p.m. A Memorial Service was held at the Union Congregational Church, 148 Haverhill St., North Reading, on Wednesday, Sept. 12 at 10 a.m. Interment will take place in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington on Friday, Sept. 14 at 11 a.m.

Memorial donations in Charlotte's name may be made to the Union Congregational Church, 148 Haverhill St., North Reading, MA 01864.

Herbert B. 'Herb' Garey

Served in US Army during Korean War

Herbert B. "Herb" Garey, age 86, of North Reading, passed away unexpectedly on Sept. 5, 2018, at Winchester Hospital.

Herb was born on Nov. 13, 1931; he was the dear son of the late Mary and Louis Bonaiuto. Herb was born and raised on the family farm in Camden, Maine before moving to Wakefield, MA and then to Peabody, MA. He attended Camden public schools and was a graduate of Camden High School.

In November of 1952, Herb was inducted into the United States Army during the Korean War. Herb served overseas for much of his tour of duty and was awarded several commendations including the Korean Service Medal, the United Nations Service Medal and the National Defense Service Medal just to name a few. Herb was honorably discharged on Oct. 15, 1954 and returned home to Massachusetts.

On April 5, 1953, Herb married "his sweetheart" Theresa "Terry" Yentile; the couple lived in Wakefield for several years before moving to North Reading in November of 1963. Herb was a wonderful husband who loved to cook and take care of their home. Herb and Terry spent many wonderful times together with their family and friends throughout the years; making countless memories for everyone to share.

For many years, Herb, worked for the Town of Reading School Department as a custodian. Herb was very kind and really enjoyed working with the teachers and seeing the students. Herb also loved his "odd jobs" throughout the years especially when he drove the ice cream truck around Wilmington. Herb was actually a "jack of all trades" and loved a challenge; he always had be the first one in the neighborhood to try out the latest thing on the market or a new gadget just to see how it all worked.

Herb's "adventurous" side led him to countless trips with his family and friends to Las Vegas, Foxwoods, Twin Rivers and Mohegan just to try his luck. He also enjoyed playing the lottery and his weekly scratch tickets to see if he could "win big."

In his spare time, Herb, liked to golf and go bowling with his buddies and looked forward to spending time with his family and friends. Herb was truly a "nice guy" who will be missed by all who knew and loved him.

Herb was the beloved husband of Theresa "Terry" (Yentile) Garey, cherished son of the late Mary E. (Clish) and Louis Bonaiuto, dear brother of the late Mary Flower. Herb is also survived by his brother-in-law Vincent Yentile of Wilmington as well as many loving nieces and nephews.

Family and friends gathered for a Funeral Service at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington, on Tuesday, Sept. 11 at 11 a.m. Interment with Military Honors followed in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting Hours were held at the Funeral Home on Monday, Sept. 10 from 4 - 8 p.m.

In lieu of flowers donations in Herbert's memory may be made to St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, 262 Danny Thomas Place, Memphis, TN 38105.

OBITUARIES

Agnes C. (Doherty) Romano

Worked for AT&T during World War II

Agnes C. Romano (Doherty), age 99, of Tewksbury, passed away peacefully surrounded by family on Sept. 10, 2018, at the Beth Israel Deaconess Hospital in Boston.

Agnes was born in East Boston, MA on April 4, 1919; she was the dear daughter of the late William and Catherine Doherty. Agnes was raised and educated in East Boston and a graduate of East Boston High School. Agnes loved her "East Boston" roots; she spent many hours as a young girl working at her dad's florist shop in Day Square where she enjoyed interacting with her neighbors and friends.

Agnes also enjoyed countless hours of summer fun at her parent's summer retreat around Silver Lake in Wilmington where many wonderful memories were made throughout the years.

During World War II Agnes worked as a switchboard operator for AT&T. She would often talk of her time working during the war and had a deep sense of pride for the support she and others gave to the war effort.

On Aug. 19, 1942, Agnes married the "love of her life" Francis (Frank) Joseph Romano. Agnes and Frank lived in East Boston for several years before moving to Tewksbury where they raised their loving family of 11 children.

Agnes was a very devoted wife, mother, grandmother, great-grandmother and great-great-grandmother who showered her family with unconditional love and support. She especially enjoyed going to dance recitals, sports, school events, plays, musicals, graduations, baptisms, first communions, or any special event that celebrated a milestone for her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Agnes beamed with pride as she spoke of their accomplishments and cherished watching them grow into wonderful people.

Agnes was a woman of great faith and was extremely active in her parish of St. Dorothy's which serves the people of Wilmington and South Tewksbury. She was active in the Ladies Sodality for many years and served as the Past Prefect where she was very instrumental in running a multitude of church events such as the Christmas Bazaar, Penney Sale, Whist Partie, Strawberry Fair and May Procession just to name a few.

One of her great passions was making Baptismal robes for countless babies being welcomed into the church through baptism and she did so for over 50 years.

Agnes could not do enough to support her church and help fellow parishioner's; this did not go unnoticed when she was awarded the Chevrus Award for her outstanding work and dedication to the Parish of St. Dorothy's. Agnes' unwavering support and love did not stop there.

She also gave of her time, talents and resources to the Catholic Charities, The Heartbeat Pregnancy Help Center, she sent care packages and Christmas gifts to orphanages in Chile and Costa Rica as well as giving support to various Indian Reservations.

Agnes was also a Girl Scout leader for many years; always encouraging, supporting and leading the young women of the future by example.

Agnes had a special place in her heart when it came to Veterans and their families. She was the wife, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother of four generations who served this country and she was extremely proud of each one of them.

During the Vietnam war, when her son was serving overseas, Agnes sent special care packages each containing a scapula and a special hand-written note to hundreds of veterans, giving them encouragement, strength, and prayers during their darkest days.

Agnes was also involved in the weekly Local Heroes group that sent packages overseas to Iraq and Afghanistan. For many years Agnes was a member of the VFW Women's Auxiliary Post 8164 in Tewksbury where she went above and beyond to help with various fund raisers or just to help a veteran in need. She was a woman who never forgot our veterans from World War II to present day.

Agnes had a motto; "Love of God, Love of Family and Love of Country"; these were words that she not only said but words that she lived by.

Agnes went out of her way to do for others; she shared her time, talents and heart to help everyone. She was truly a remarkable lady; kind, caring, giving but most of all loving. Agnes will always be in the hearts and minds of those she touched; an angel on earth who will forever be missed by her family and friends.

Agnes was the beloved wife of the late Francis J. Romano, devoted mother of Mary Lamont of Wilmington, Gina Weichert & husband Rudy of Portsmouth, NH, Tommy Romano & wife Mary of Tewksbury, George Romano & wife Helen of Billerica, John Romano & his late wife Nancy of Pelham, NH, Peggy Romano & husband Marty of Parkman, ME, Richard Romano of Salem, NH, Agnes Fiumara & husband Dominic of Wilmington, Francis Romano of Tewksbury, Susan Kerr & husband Paul of Tewksbury and David Romano of Wilmington.

Loving grandmother of 28 grandchildren, 40 great-grandchildren and 12 great-great-grandchildren. Cherished daughter of the late William F. J. and Catherine T. (Gallagher) Doherty, dear sister of Catherine Clinch of Salisbury, the late Edyth Sullivan, William and Francis Doherty. Agnes is survived by many nieces, nephews and friends.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington, on Saturday, Sept. 15 at 9 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St. Dorothy's Church, Main St. (Rt. 38) Wilmington, MA at 10 a.m. Interment to follow in Tewksbury Cemetery, Tewksbury, MA. Visiting Hours will be held at the Funeral Home on Friday, Sept. 14 from 3 - 8 p.m. www.nicholsfuneralhome.com

In lieu of flowers, donations in Agnes' memory may be made to the Heartbeat Pregnancy Help Center, c/o St. Margaret's Church, 113 Winn St., Burlington, MA 01803, the Tewksbury Community Pantry, Inc., 999 Whipple Road, Tewksbury, MA 01876 or to the Wilmington Food Pantry, P. O. Box 147, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Wilmington Police Log

Male arrested for possession of class A drugs

Monday, September 3:

5:26 p.m.: Animal Control was notified of a deceased animal which needed to be removed from in front of a mailbox on Oak Court.

Tuesday, September 4:

2:19 p.m.: A motor vehicle collision occurred on Main Street involving a Toyota Sienna and a Chevrolet Malibu. No injuries were reported.

2:38 p.m.: Patrick James Carroll, 35, of 196 Salem St. was arrested for speeding, failure to stop for police, and operating a motor vehicle with his license revoked for operating under the influence of liquor. Carroll fled on foot after he was stopped at the intersection of Salem Street and Arlene Avenue. A Tewksbury K9 unit was called in but later canceled when Carroll was caught. His bail was set at $1,540 and was paid later that day.

Wednesday, September 5:

9:00 a.m.: An Acura MDX and a Nissan Versa were involved in a minor motor vehicle collision at the intersection of Concord Street and Ramp 39. The vehicles' airbags were deployed, but all parties refused medical attention.

10:48 a.m.: An Acura TSX struck a pole on Shawsheen Avenue. Reading Light and Verizon were notified as the pole snapped at its base.

5:58 p.m.: A Honda Civic and a Honda HR-V received minor damage in a motor vehicle collision at the intersection of Shawsheen Avenue and Bond Street.

Thursday, September 6:

9:28 a.m.: A minor motor vehicle collision occurred on Concord Street involving a Jeep Renegade and a Subaru Outback.

10:48 a.m.: A mailbox on Shawsheen Avenue was struck and damaged sometime overnight.

12:34 p.m.: An employee at the Salvation Army on Main Street reported a Kia Soul which had been struck in the store's parking lot.

1:22 p.m.: Verizon was notified of a wire down on Carson Avenue.

Friday, September 7:

1:46 a.m.: Derrick Ortega, 24, of St. Tenney Street in Methuen was arrested for driving with his license revoked for being a habitual traffic offender, speeding, negligent operation of a motor vehicle, and failure to stop for police. Police were able to find Ortega after a number of reports placed him failing to stop in locations from Concord Street to Woburn Street.

8:43 a.m.: Michael Maksou Jr., 21, of 13 Parkview Terrace in North Reading was arrested for possession of class A drugs. Maksou was spotted as he stopped his Razor scooter on Route 125 and walked down a fire access road. Wearing a flat-rimmed hat, baggy pants, and a blue and gray backpack, he seemed to scan the area before he walked down the road. Maksou was found with about $120 worth of scratch tickets in addition to the drugs.

3:26 p.m.: A Harley Davidson motorcycle was towed after a collision with a Honda Accord on Nichols Street.

Saturday, September 8:

9:52 a.m.: A Winston Avenue resident reported an injured rabbit, possibly with a leg broken by a dog. She was directed to Wildlife Control.

Sunday, September 9:

12:58 a.m.: After responding to a call about the sound of a crash, police found that a Ford Super Duty had damaged property on Chestnut Street. Officers took the driver to his home on Amherst Road while the vehicle was towed.

3:28 a.m.: After responding to a call from a Lake Street resident about a vehicle doing damage to a mailbox, police found that the mailbox had not been damaged, though two landscaping bricks had been hit.

12:11 p.m.: A Chevrolet Traverse left the scene of a collision with a Honda Odyssey on Main Street. The driver of the Traverse spoke to police on the phone and stated that there was no damage and he did not have time to come to the police station. Police met him at As Good as It Gets, where they issued him a summons for marked lanes violation and operating a motor vehicle after suspension of his license.

6:06 p.m.: The Fire Department and Reading Light responded after reports of a loud explosion and two wires down on Andover Street. Reading Light remained on scene to repair what turned out to be a primary wire.

7:14 p.m.: All parties refused medical attention after a collision on Adams Street involving a Chevrolet S10 and a Toyota RAV4. Neither vehicle's airbags were deployed, but both had to be towed.

The Golden Rule has always guided the owners and staff at Tewksbury Funeral Home. Caring for and guiding the family of a loved one who has passed is the most important part of our service.

A family of service minded people intent on helping the community in many ways, the Deputat family has helped charter and is a member of several civic organizations in Tewksbury.

When one visits the funeral home one is steeped in the town's history. The building was built over a century ago and has been in the family well over half that time. Lovingly restored and improved by hand by Walter Deputat, the facility is designed to accommodate large and small gatherings, all in the comfort of our up-to-date building.

We invite families to contact us in time of need or for preplanning. We are dedicated to providing the very best facilities, a full range of merchandise, and the finest funeral services at a reasonable cost.

We are committed to serving Tewksbury and the surrounding towns with compassionate services at a cost that only a family owned provider can offer.

Our goal is to not only to meet, but to exceed, our client expectations.

Wilmington man sentenced 10 years for dealing fentanyl

BOSTON — A Wilmington man was sentenced Friday, Sept. 7, in federal court in Boston for dealing fentanyl.

Bryan Moran, 35, was sentenced by U.S. District Court Judge Indira Talwani to 10 years in prison and eight years of supervised release. In May 2018, Moran pleaded guilty to possession with intent to distribute 40 grams or more of fentanyl.

In June 2016, Moran was arrested and charged after investigators seized approximately 80 grams of fentanyl from a storage unit in North Reading. Due to a 2003 conviction in federal court for heroin conspiracy, Moran faced a 10-year mandatory minimum sentence.

United States Attorney Andrew E. Lelling; Brian D. Boyle, Special Agent in Charge of the Drug Enforcement Administration, New England Division; Wilmington Police Chief Michael Begonis; and North Reading Police Chief Michael Murphy made the announcement.

Valuable assistance was provided by the Middlesex Sheriff's Office. Assistant U.S. Attorney Katherine Ferguson of Lelling's Narcotics and Money Laundering Unit prosecuted the case.

Wilmington Student Support Services Dept.

WILMINGTON — Now that school is open, the Wilmington Student Support Services Department would like to inform interested people about the services provided under State and Federal Special Education regulations.

A variety of services and programs are available to students between the ages of 3 and 22 who have been suspected to have educational difficulties, social/emotional concerns, and/or physical challenges. This law provides for in-depth child evaluations, and appropriate treatment and support services.

The Student Support Services Department would like to emphasize the availability of programs and services for 3 and 4 year olds as well as children between the ages of 16 and 22. Support services available to all school age children include: pre-school programs, counseling as well as remedial instructional programs at all schools.

For more information about rights and services contact your building principal or the Student Support Services Department at 978-694-6032.

No disruption to collection service in town yet issue a new bond. Efforts to find another bond holder, according to Russell, have been unsuccessful.

According to Hull, DPW director Mike Woods has stated that there has been no interruption in collection service to the town, but that other options would continue to be investigated as a matter of security.

One option, according to Hull, is termination of the contract, although that would cause both interruption in service and a financial cost.

According to its contract with Russell, the town pays for the cost of the trash and recycle bins distributed to residents. If the contract continues to its original end date, this cost will continue to be paid through installments each year. However, if terminated, the balance of the cost will have to be paid in full, to the amount of $580,000.

Other costs that would arise from a contract termination are collection center costs, of which the town currently picks up a max of $50 per ton. Without the contract, that cost could soar to over $100 per ton. Additionally, the town would be responsible for covering the cost of current prevailing wages, while the contract with Russell is based upon prevailing wages at the time of signing several years ago.

Due to current multinational conflict with China regarding export of recyclable material, there is no easy answer on the horizon for many municipalities regarding these rising costs and diminished security. The town, according to Hull, has no immediate plans to exit its current contract.

"We will continue to have conversations with Russell about ways to try to provide some measure of security for the town," he said.

Newhouse not working against town's efforts the community can agree to, and that is we don't want a Transrail facility at the Olin property," said Hull.

Selectman Michael McCoy asked if such a request was legal. He also asked if the EPA had reviewed the new plan.

"Can Mr. Newhouse actually do this, represent the other side?" asked McCoy.

Selectmen Ed Loud and Jonathan Eaton agreed with McCoy regarding the issue of legality.

"I am not going to vote on anything without Town Counsel's advice," said Loud.

"Any move that we do with respect to this property needs to be done under the advice of counsel," added Eaton.

Wilmington resident and former Selectman Suzanne Sullivan was adamantly opposed to the prospect of Newhouse representing GFI.

"Now you have an ex-counsel and ex-selectman urging you to do the opposite to what the comments were to the surface transportation board," said Sullivan. "I see that there's a huge conflict here and I'm really concerned about it."

Hull made an effort to assure those in attendance that Newhouse's request was not an effort to act in opposition to the town's interests.

"He is, as I understand it, seeking to work with this group to offer an alternative to the transloading facility," said Hull. "The suggestion that he is working against our effort to have the organization that has been reestablished for that through the surface transportation board is not particularly accurate. They're two separate issues."

Hull said that he is not prepared to endorse alternatives to New England transrail, but he would like to consider such alternatives.

Absolutely nothing compares to the stunning view provided by a high-resolution aerial photograph or video. Aerial photography provides a significant competitive business advantage when incorporated into your website, collateral materials, and Facebook page. The photographs present an entirely different perspective from a usual way of viewing a business and surrounding area.

As a professional photographer and insured FAA 107 certified drone pilot, my clients include business owners, realtors, architects, directors of houses of worship and construction companies. I currently organize drone certification courses at Roger Williams University, RI and Northern Essex Community College (NECC), MA. When on an aerial photography assignment, my professional drone equipment includes a DJI Phantom 3 Pro and a Mavic Pro.

You are welcome to visit my portrait studio in Stoneham. When photographing events, weddings, head shots and portraits, I work with a full frame, high-resolution (25 megapixels) digital camera. I have been involved in all aspects of photography for 35 years. Working with me is professional photographer and Artistic Director, Karin Nystrom, who specializes in photographing women, children and events as well as aerial photography. You are invited to view my exhibit at the Stoneham Senior Center and Library in September and October 2018 respectively. Time and Again, is a current day aerial perspective of Stoneham historic buildings as juxtaposed to classic photographs of the same building from c 1875. Lone Republican candidate excited for what's to come

While the rest of her opponents besides Robertson and Meuse are no longer in the running, she's not changing her campaign strategy or her outlook since she declared that she'd be running for the seat last October.

"Mr. Miceli is irreplaceable so I'm going to just be me and do everything that I possibly can to give people the representation they deserve," she continued on her original opponent.

She believes that her early courage to run has helped her to gain support from the people she's met so far.

As for her plan for the next few weeks, Prinzivalli will keep knocking on doors.

"I've met thousands of voters and I want to meet as many as I possibly can to hear about their concerns on taxes, road repairs, the opioid crisis, and protecting our Constitutional rights."

Working closely with Republican nominee for Senate Geoff Diehl, she's excited for the possibility of serving alongside him and having "a Senator in Washington D.C. who will put Massachusetts first."

The 34-year-old believes that she's seen how the status quo has made it hard to live in Massachusetts and as a soon-to-be-wife and bank branch manager, and she wants to continue to get money back in taxpayers' pockets.

The email statement concludes that she would be honored to serve the people of Wilmington and Tewksbury in this role.

highest regard.

"He felt, as do I, that holding the position shows that the towns put their faith in you to help them out and make your hometown a better place, and you better deliver," he said. "I owe who I am to Tewksbury and Wilmington, they provide good schools, safe places to play, and every opportunity to grow up exploring what I want. To pay that back to those before me, and to make it an even better place for the kids in our schools and ball-fields now would be a dream come true."

Already preparing for the general election, Robertson hopes to continue to connect with more constituents as he continues to campaign.

"I appreciate you all taking the time to listen to me, and supporting me in the primary." he said. "I look forward to more discussions, debates, and meeting more of you as I continue to be out there."

To reach Robertson with questions, he can be contacted through his website, robertsonforrep.com, where he views and answers questions personally.

WHS Round-Up

Both soccer teams start out with a pair league losses

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor
jamiepote@hotmail.com

WILMINGTON – This past week the Wilmington High School Boys' Soccer team opened its season up with back-to-back losses to Woburn, 2-0, and then Belmont, 1-0.

"It's frustrating because the effort is good," said head coach Steve Scanlon after the loss on Friday to Belmont. "The kids are playing hard and we are just struggling to get sustained offense. We haven't scored yet (in two games). It's about sustaining offense. We get flurries – but the thing that has been an issue for us for a while now is the defending in this league is really good. It limits you (and your scoring chances). Plus, we have come out against two of the large school and two of the top teams in the league so that's tough. We just have to keep working. Our season is young."

In the loss to Woburn, the Tanners scored in the 13th minute and then in the 56th minute of the game. Wilmington's best chance to score came off the foot of Rocco Scalfani, who nailed the left bar on a great shot.

Scanlon said that Scalfani up front and midfielders Troy Riekstins and Mark Rogomentich played well, while goalie Andrew Days made eight saves in the net.

In the loss on Friday, Belmont scored the lone goal with three minutes left in the first half as Seamus Dullaghan rifled a shot that went off the stretched fingertips of goalie Justin Healey, who made a terrific attempt at the laser shot, and into the far left corner.

About six minutes before that goal, Wilmington's Aiden McGrath had a decent bid as he shot from just outside the '18 nailed the top crossbar.

The game remained 1-0 the rest of the way as neither team really had any legitimate chances to score. Wilmington did call a timeout with about 11 minutes left and shifted an extra forward up front. Owen Surette had the lone bid on net with a low shot from the left side which was gobbled up for a save.

Wilmington will now have four games in the next eight days, with travel stops to Reading on Thursday (3:45 pm), Melrose on Saturday morning (10:00 am), then home against Burlington on Monday (4:00 pm) and Wakefield next Thursday for a 6:00 pm start.

GIRLS SOCCER

The Wilmington High School Girls' team is also 0-2, losing to Woburn and Belmont by the same 2-1 scores. Head Coach Sue Hendee is thrilled with the way the team has played through these two games and against two very strong Middlesex League Large School opponents.

"Both games were very exciting and very entertaining," said Hendee. "After these two games, I'm very pleased with the way we have played especially since we had so many unknowns because of different things that happened with our line-up, but the kids who filled in, have really, really done a nice job. We have been able to get some girls in – not all – to a game to get their first game under their belts and everyone has been really solid."

In the game against Woburn, the 'Cats struck first scoring a goal coming in the 8th minute of the second half as Cassidy Collins took a corner kick and the ball went right to Annie Wingate, who headed it home. Woburn scored the next two goals and took the game with that 2-1 result.

"Woburn always had a strong program and strong teams and our games are usually close," said Hendee. "I thought we played with a real good balance of possession and poise, especially because of all of the unknowns we had. On top of that we were coming off a scrimmage against Central Catholic and we didn't play all that great, and then we had a playday in medway and we looked better than we did against Central, but still so many questions. So for that one I thought the kids played very well and it was an entertaining and close game."

Just like the opener with Woburn, the second game with Belmont was very similar. The 'Cats scored the first goal of the game, but then the Marauders added two late goals to come away with the win. Belmont is always an excellent team, usually among the best in the league and the state and were also coming off an 11-0 win in their season opener over Burlington. Seconds into this frame, the 'Cats got on the board as Belmont made two passes back to its goalie off the opening kick-off. Wilmington's Jocelyn Palmer so the entire play develop and she raced to the front of the net, forcing the goalie to juggle the ball before it went loose and Palmer was able to kick it to the back of the net for the lead coming just ten seconds into the game.

"You certainly don't expect that," said Hendee. "But it was all about smarts and hustle on Jocelyn's part."

The game stayed 1-0 as Wilmington's defense was playing exceptionally well.

"I thought all of them in the back were outstanding," said Hendee. "Thea (Aliberti) has been strong and then Aly Colantuoni has been absolutely phenomenal in these two games, especially against Belmont. Audrey Curdo is a freshman and she has stepped into a starter's role and she too has been outstanding, and Tori Sheehan is getting stronger every day and every game after being out over a year and she is starting to look like her old self. All four goals played all 80 minutes against Belmont."

Hendee also pinpointed Wingate for her efforts as a target striker, saying she did a real nice job of turning and attacking the defenders or dishing the ball off to a teammate.

Goalie Alyssa Morrison has also played well in her first two starts in the varsity line-up making 10 saves in each game.

Wilmington will be back in action with home contests on Thursday night against Reading (6:00 pm), Melrose on Saturday morning at 10:00 am, before going to Burlington on Monday afternoon (3:45 pm).

GOLF

This season promises to be one of learning and improving for the Wilmington High Golf team, with many players getting their first real experience playing competitive golf, particularly at the varsity level.

The first week of the season offered a glimpse into what could lie ahead for the Wildcats this season, and while the results may not have been what they were looking for, they are already showing signs that they should be able to improve as the season goes on.

In their first match of the season last Wednesday against Middlesex League rival Melrose at Hillview Country Club, the Wildcats fell by a score of 51 ½ - 20 ½ , with senior Gavin Kelsey being the Wildcats top player, tying his match at 4 ½ - 4 ½ .

In their second match of the season against Amesbury on Monday, the Wildcats suffered a 42½-29½ loss, but there were several flashes of improvement throughout the match.

Junior Zack Kincaid playing in the number two slot, won his match 6-3, playing solid for the Wildcats while shooting a 42.

Wilmington upends Shawsheen with fourth quarter comeback

BILLERICA- With new players at virtually every skill position, and two injuries on their offensive line, you just had to know there would be a bit of a learning curve for the Wilmington High Football team early this season.

Thankfully for the Wildcats, they appear to be quick learners, as after struggling in the first half of their season opener against Shawsheen Tech last Friday night, they did just enough in the second half to come away with a dramatic 10-7 non-league victory over the Rams at the Charles H. Lyons Athletic Complex in the season opener for both teams.

Wilmington High senior quarterback Andrew Sullivan, making a return to the starting lineup after missing last season with an injury, scored on a one yard touchdown run on fourth and goal with 5:38 left in the game for what would prove to be the winning points, although there were some tense moments down the stretch for the Wildcats.

Held in check for most of the game by Shawsheen's swarming defense, the Wildcats offense stepped up when their team needed them most, going on a clutch 13-play, 58 yard drive which was capped off by Sullivan's game winning touchdown.

Sullivan's score gave the Wildcats (1-0) their first lead of the game after Shawsheen (0-1) had taken an early 7-0 lead and then taken a 7-3 lead into halftime.

Wilmington senior running back Peter Marino (29 carries, 118 yards) did the bulk of the damage on the drive for the Wildcats, rushing for 37 yards and catching a pass for another six yards, but it was Sullivan who finished the job, falling just short of the goal line on the previous play, and then plunging in from inches out on fourth down.

Adam Bishop's extra point made it 10-7 and the Wilmington defense held on from there to secure the victory.

Wilmington coach Craig Turner was pleased with how his offense, and particularly his offensive line took control on the game winning drive.

"I had said all along that our offensive line was going to have to carry us and they did that for us tonight. They had some mistakes early with a couple of first year guards in the game, and they kind of missed some stuff and that led to some big plays for (Shawsheen)," Turner said. " But they were able to kind of hang in there and fix that stuff in the second half, so it was good to see them fix some things on the fly and make some things happen in the second half."

After the Wilmington touchdown, the Wildcats held Shawsheen to a three and out, and took over with a chance to seal the game, but the Rams forced a fumble which was recovered by senior defensive back Kevin Chase with 2:18 left in the game, and Shawsheen took over at the 25-yard line looking to mount a game winning drive of their own.

Unfortunately for the Rams, their hopes of a comeback lasted only one play, as Wilmington defensive back Christian Robarge picked off a pass on the first play of the drive and returned it to the Shawsheen nine yard line. As they had done for most of the night, the Shawsheen defense was up to the task and kept the Wildcats out of the end zone, stopping Marino on a fourth and goal from the one yard line with 26 seconds left, giving themselves one last chance, but two plays later another Wilmington interception put the finishing touches on the win.

Turner knows his team will have to be better going forward, but he was happy to see them come away with the season opening victory.

"Being 1-0 feels a lot better than being 0-1," Turner said. "Like we talked about in the preseason, our problem right now is that we are just not consistent enough offensively. As you could see from tonight, we are not going to be chucking it down the field, we are going to kind of try to grind a game out and pick our spots in the passing game and I think we did a pretty good job of that, but we just made too many mistakes on offense to put ourselves in bad spots. But we were tough and we fought and I was happy with our effort and our ability to kind of hang in there."

Shawsheen had taken the lead late in the first quarter when senior quarterback CJ Zemetres of Tewksbury connected with junior wide receiver Conor Rich for an 83-yard touchdown pass with 1:46 left in the opening frame.

Zemetres' pass was actually tipped by a Wilmington defender at about midfield, but Rich hauled in the deflection and out raced everybody to the end zone for a 7-0 Shawsheen lead after Ryan Quinones booted the extra point.

Shawsheen coach Al Costabile, who is integrating a slew of new skill position players himself, liked what he saw from his new quarterback and receiver.

"That was just a tremendous athletic play by Conor to concentrate on the tipped ball, and then turn his body to make the catch, and then his breakaway speed was something else," Costabile said.

Wilmington would get on the board just before the end of the first half, going on 14-play, 62-yard drive, and capping it off with a 31-yard field goal by Bishop with 46 seconds left in the half.

Bishop's field goal capped a 13-play, 63-yard drive that took the ball all the way to the Shawsheen 8-yard line before a false start penalty on a fourth and one play moved the ball back to the 13-yard line, forcing the field goal attempt.

"We had good drives, but just didn't finish them," Turner said. "At the end of the half, we have a fourth and one and we have a great play called and we false start and have to settle for a field goal, so little things like that hurt us."

Wilmington would carry the momentum of that long drive into the second half, gradually beginning to pick up chunks of yards on the ground and controlling the line of scrimmage, ultimately leading to the game winning touchdown drive.

"I thought in the second half, and the fourth quarter in particular, they began to control the line of scrimmage the last few times they had the ball," Costabile said. "They started to pick up big chunks of yards. They did a great job in the fourth quarter. I thought our defense played great, but they just got worn down in the fourth quarter."

Turner could also feel the second half momentum shift on the Wilmington sideline.

"We found things at the half that we liked, and we were able to kind of put that to work running the ball. We felt like our offensive line was starting to wear their defensive line down," Turner said. "I think they had the same four or five guys on the defensive line on the field the whole time, and our kids just started gaining a little momentum and a little energy, and just kind of stuck in there and led us."

Shawsheen will travel to non-league foe Arlington Catholic on Friday night for a 6:30 pm kickoff.

Former Shawsheen Captain Kevin Burke honored before season opener

Prior to Friday night's game, a special ceremony was held during the coin toss when Wilmington resident and former Shawsheen football star and captain Kevin Burke, who was an honorary captain for the night, was recognized at midfield.

Burke a 2015 graduate of Shawsheen Tech, and a CAC All-Star defensive end in his senior year for the Rams, has close ties with both teams, most notably that his cousin Andrew Sullivan is the starting quarterback for Wilmington High.

On St. Patrick's Day of this year, Burke was involved in an ATV accident, suffering major injuries, including severe head trauma, broken bones and a collapsed lung. Burke was rushed to Mass General Hospital, and upon arriving at the hospital he had a portion of his skull removed to relieve the pressure from brain swelling.

It has been a long and difficult road to recovery for Burke, but in a truly inspirational moment, there he was on Friday night, in front of a packed house at Shawsheen Tech, walking out to midfield to a standing ovation where he was greeted by players from both teams, including his cousin Andrew.

Shawsheen coach Al Costabile was thrilled to see Burke back where he belongs, on the sideline with his teammates.

"Kevin Burke is unequivocally one of the finest young men I have ever had the pleasure to coach," Costabile said. "He epitomized what a captain should be. Kevin has been in our thoughts and prayers since last March. The courage ,strength and perseverance he has shown throughout his recovery process has been an inspiration to all of us. Having Kevin with us Friday Night made us all winners regardless of the score."

Ninth annual Italian Heritage Golf Classic

The Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli Lodge #2183, Sons of Italy of Wilmington and the Italian Heritage Month Committee, are proud to announce the Ninth Annual Italian Heritage Golf Classic in celebration of October as Italian Heritage Month on Friday, September 28, 2018 at the Merrimack Valley Golf Club in Methuen.

The committee invites you to participate in a great day of golf, food and fun. As in the past, 100 percent of the proceeds from the golf classic will benefit the Alzheimer's Association, Cooley's Anemia Foundation and the Italian Heritage Scholarship Fund. Over the last eight years, the tournament has raised $35,000!

The entry fee per golfer is $125.00, which includes greens fee, golf cart, a player gift, continental breakfast, Italian sausage sub at the turn and a luncheon buffet. Golfers may register individually or in teams of four; individual golfers will be placed on a team. Prizes will be given to first, second and third place teams. There will be contests on the course, a 50/50 raffle and a raffle table at the luncheon. Tickets are available for the luncheon only, at $35.00 per person.

The tournament is a shotgun start and a scramble format. On the day of the tournament, registration begins at 7:30 am and tee time is at 8:30 am. If you are not a golfer and would like to support our charitable golf tournament, sponsorships are available. You may sponsor a hole for $100 or a golf cart for $50 or provide a gift certificate that will enhance our raffle table.

For further information on participating in the tournament, sponsorships or donating a gift to the raffle, please call Tournament Chairman Kevin Caira at (978) 657-7734.

Marino helps rush Wilmington ahead in the fourth quarter

Wilmington High running back Peter Marino had a big fourth quarter to lead the 'Cats to a victory over Shawsheen Tech. Trying to tackle him include Tech players Omar Odaly and Brian Caldwell, while, Connor Benoit (9) tries to throw a block. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

BILLERICA - Heading into the fourth quarter of last Friday night's clash with non-league rival Shawsheen Tech, one would never have guessed that Wilmington High senior running back Peter Marino would emerge as the star of the game.

After all, at that point Marino had been solid, but unspectacular for the Wildcats, with 49 yards rushing for the game as time wound down in the third quarter. That rushing total including several plays in the first half where he was stopped in the backfield by a ferocious Shawsheen defensive line.

But, when the Wildcats took possession at their own 42 yard line with 40 seconds left in the third quarter, Marino begin to establish his dominance, offering a glimpse of what could be to come this season for the Wildcats..

Trailing 7-3 at the time, Marino would lead his team on what would prove to be the game-winning 58-yard touchdown drive, rushing for 36 of the 58 yards on the drive, and catching a pass for another 6 yards, before senior quarterback Andrew Sullivan punched in what would prove to be the game winning points with 5:38 left in the game, giving the Wildcats a 10-7 victory in the season opener for both teams.

Marino would continue to grind out big chunks of yards for the remainder of the fourth quarter, eventually finishing with 118 yards rushing on 29 carries.

After the game, Marino, who was making his first varsity start a running back, tried to put into words what it was like to be part of the Wildcats first win of the season, and being the key to the game winning drive.

"It's electric. It's just a great feeling. I really wanted to punch one in, but you have to give all the credit to the offensive line," Marino said. "They blocked their butts off and I can't thank them enough for it. I love those guys."

His line indeed made a huge difference in the second half, and in the fourth quarter in particular, but it was Marino's bruising running style they carried him through 29 carries. That many carries is a little more than Wilmington coach Craig Turner would normally like to see, but he was happy to see his senior back handle the big workload.

"He is a tough, hard runner and that is what you need out of a senior captain, to tote the rock for us," Turner said. "I would like to not have to lean on him for 28 or 29 carries like that, but that was the spot we were in and we were able to make it happen like that"

Earlier in the game, Marino had struggled at times to gain positive yards as the offensive line struggled to find the cohesiveness needed to be successful. That was not entirely unexpected, given that the line featured two new starters, but Marino knew it was just a matter of time before they got it right.

"We just needed to give them a chance," Marino said. "Without the offensive line the offense doesn't work, not just the running backs, but the whole offense. They are the heart of our offense."

And as for the large number of carries, you won't find Marino complaining about having too many touches.

"I love that kind of workload, I can't wait to see more of that this season," Marino said.

While Marino did most of the work on the game winning drive, it was his friend and quarterback Andrew Sullivan who capped it with a one yard dive for the score and the lead. Marino was asked about Sullivan "vulturing" his touchdown.

"He's got to have a chance too," Marino joked. "I can't take them all."

Friday was a great start to the season for Marino and the Wildcats, but Marino is looking to put the opening season win behind him and move forward with a great season for himself and his teammates.

"I can't wait for the rest of the season," Marino said. "We've got our home opener next week against Bedford and I can't wait to have a great week against them too."

Tuner meanwhile is looking for more of the same from Marino the rest of the way.

"Peter was good. He is a tough, physical kid and he was really close to popping a few of those for a long one. But he will get there." Turner said. "Like I said in the preseason, this is all new stuff, this is his first time seeing it in a live action, game situation, so he is going to have a much better idea of how to read stuff going forward. He was pretty good tonight, but he is going to get even better."

Redmen air it all out in season opening win

By JAMIE POTE

TEWKSBURY - The first game of the season is always a scary thing. The coaches and players are usually nervous or jittery, and you quickly find out what type of team you have and if you are a pretender or a contender.

On Friday night, playing under the home (rented portable) lights for just the third time in program history, the Tewksbury Memorial High School Football team was clicking on all cylinders throughout the entire four quarters which was more than enough to secure a 34-6 victory over Lawrence in a Merrimack Valley Conference cross-over/non-league game played at Doucette Field.

Tewksbury scored on the game's first play from scrimmage - a gorgeous 63 yard backside screen pass from Jay Connolly to Shane Aylward - and that was a big part of the Redmen's five touchdown, 380 total yards of offense night, while the defense held Lawrence to negative six yards on the ground, which includes three quarterback sacks, four tackles for loss of yards, and a fumble recovery.

Lawrence came into the game with a new coach in Rhandy Audate and he was hoping his overall athleticism and speed would give Tewksbury some problems. Certainly that was the case at times during the night, but had it not been for some misexecution on their end, the score would not have been as slanted as it ended up to be.

"(Audate's) going to do a good job," said Redmen coach Brian Aylward. "That whole program is scary to me. Coach has some good energy with those kids. It seems like he has a good repore with them and they got some talented kids. They missed on some execution, and some stuff that we have to work on to get better that they will do. If they do that, they are going to win some games. That's a good team, a good hard-nosed team."

Before the season officially started, Aylward was very concerned about his defensive secondary. He didn't know who the four players would be, since most of them lacked a lot of varsity experience. Lawrence QB Jacob Tamayo (10-for-22, 111 yards, 1 TD) did miss on a handful of passes to receivers who had a step past or inside of Tewksbury's defenders, but overall the Redmen group certainly received a solid grade behind the play of mostly Jay Connolly, Colby Wilson, Kyle Zervas and Shane Aylward.

"We have to be smart about (we do things)," said Coach Aylward. "We can't get too cute and try to do a lot with adjustment type things. We just need to get them comfortable and out there playing. We (as coaches) have to get better on that end and that's what we will be focused on mostly. I thought that group fought hard and they worked hard. I don't think they got outhustled and they were tough.

"I told all of them that we have a lot of guys playing in this game who are like profile type looking guys, who are smaller type players and we are asking them to do big guy things, but I'm not going to apologize for that because we are used to asking guys to do that. We have asked guys to do that before, ever since I've been here. So you just got to do it, and I thought they did a good job (overall).

"Jay cleaned up a lot. It was kind of concerning because he had been up and down in practice because we are trying to practice lots of stuff so we can have it when we need it, and we do that, everything only gets a couple of reps. We got to get better as coaches so we can get better on execution."

The players on defense were able to breathe a bit early on after watching Tewksbury score on that first play from scrimmage. Connolly, who was near brilliant on the night completing 8-of-12 passes for 222 yards and two scores, beautifully acted and perfectly executed a backside screen pass to a wide open Shane Aylward, who behind several good down field blocks, cruised down the left sideline for the 63-yard score.

"We haggled on that (play call)," said Coach Aylward. "It's a risky thing. I thought we had pretty good field position with the kick return, so I said that if we were close to the fifty (yard line) that we would do that (play) but if we were deeper (in our own territory) we would do another play. As long as I can narrow it down to this or that, I feel good and then it's just time to go. It was a good sell and it's good to have (this game) done with."

The offense soared all night. Connelly connected for all but four passes, while six of his eight completions went for 15 yards or more. Aylward ended up with four catches for 187 yards, including a late 40-yarder from back-up QB Ryne Rametta, and Zervas, who totaled three touchdowns in the game, had 4 catches for 47 yards to go with his 33 rushing yards.

Both of them looked very sharp and Aylward really show off his grit, toughness, quickness and smarts whenever he had the ball in the open field.

"He has been good," said his father. "He has been banged up and has fought through some stuff the last couple of weeks so obviously that was a concern. He's not all that big."

After Aylward scored the team's first touchdown, Zervas scored the next three on a 3-yard run to cap off a 6-play, 70-yard drive, a 7-yard pass to finish a 10-play, 95-yard drive and a 9-yard run to polish off a 7-play, 70-yard drive.

On the very first play of Friday night's game, Tewksbury High junior Shane Aylward scored on a 63-yard screen pass. As you can see there's no Lawrence defenders in sight. (photo by Jim Vaiknoras).

Both teams exchanged touchdowns late in the game, including Tewksbury's Kyle Darrigo ending in on a 10-yard run, and notching his first varsity score. Tyler Keough then booted his fourth of five PATs.

Jack Kelly had a big game on both sides of the ball. He finished with a team high 62 rushing yards as a fullback, and as a linebacker, he came through with a QB sack/forced fumble, with teammate Zach Weitz pouncing on the ball. Dylan Chandler and Derek Graffeo had the other QB sacks, while the two of the along with Trace Trant and Connor Brincklow had tackles for loss of yards. Senior Brandon Pote also had a tackle with a four-yard loss coming on Tewksbury's kick-off after Aylward's score to open the game.

"It looked like we came out of this game relatively healthy so now it's just going back and getting a bigger body of place to look at and analyze," said Aylward. "We played a lot of guys in the interior and we want to find out if we have the right guys, who is giving us good quality plays and how many (players) can come in and execute is what you want."

Tewksbury is now on the road for its next three games starting with Methuen and old friend and former assistant coach Tommy Ryan on Friday, followed by BC High and North Andover, two dynamite teams. Methuen lost 30 seniors from last year's team, but didn't show any youth in the team's 41-16 win over Malden Catholic in their opener on Friday.

Third annual Run for Recovery 5K Road Race set for Sunday

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor
jamiepote@hotmail.com

TEWKSBURY – Two years ago when the first IntoAction Recovery 5K Road Race event was held, a total of 146 runners/walkers took part. Last year, those numbers went up drastically with a total of 191, which in turn helped raise a total of $14,000. According to Mary-Ellen Cooper the amount was the down payment for the new IAR Sober House, which will be used to help locals recover from drug and alcohol addiction.

"Our mission is to provide a long term educational, therapeutic and spiritual 12 – Step program for men with opiate and/or alcohol addiction," said Cooper. "This year's event is extra special as we are setting up our house in preparation for our first guests. Our house will provide long term residential sober living for men ages 18 and over. We utilize a highly structured 12-Step philosophy. Our long term goal is to open a second home for women. Our residents will have completed a detox program in addition to a 30-day program prior to coming to our house."

This year's event will take place this Sunday morning at TMHS with the 5K starting at 9:00 am.

"The race is a great way to bring together our community," said Cooper. "The majority of our participants are from Tewksbury, Wilmington, Dracut, and Lowell. We have some New Hampshire and Maine participants as well. Our youngest participant is age one and the oldest is 74! We have a number of sponsors from our community that we acknowledge on the back of our race shirts. The TMHS Track Team volunteers as well as some local nurses. Big Top Party Rental donates hot dogs every year. A few local businesses set up informational tables. We give out cinch bags filled with goodies, all donated by local businesses. We give them out to the first one hundred participants who pick up their race bibs. All kids under the age of 12 will get a participation medal. We have trophies for top male and female runners. We have medals for all age categories for first, second, and third place."

The Cooper Family are just one of hundreds and thousands of families across the state and the country who have been affected by addiction. Mary-Ellen's nephew Derek Hanley, who will be inducted into the Wilmington High School Athletic Hall of Fame in November, lost his life due to addiction back in December of 2016. In 2013, the Town of Tewksbury lost Danny Sheehan and then two years later Robbie Goodell. In 2017, Danny's cousin, Jonathan Sheehan, passed. Last year the Goodell and Sheehan Families were on-hand as part of the event.

"This race is near and dear to many families who have lost loved ones, including my family," said Cooper. "We have all come together and these families have helped us paint, clean, furnish and decorate rooms in our home in honor of their loved ones. Many of these families have sponsored our race and we honor our loved ones on our race shirts as well. We find it helpful with our healing process. Not to sound like a cliché, but we hope to prevent another family from going through this tragedy.

Unfortunately, it does not seem to be letting up. Less than two weeks ago, I went to back-to-back wakes for two beautiful young men ages 24 and 29. Life should just be starting for these kids, the prime of their lives. Yet we are going to funerals for them. It has to stop! One of the biggest holes in treatment is the lack of long-term structure that will help prepare them to slowly transition back into the community.

I am confident that our foundation will do great things for our community. I hope that this year's race will be our most successful yet."

The inagural race winners included Peter Fortunato and Trish Bourne, and last year's top finishers from Tewksbury included a husband-and-wife tandem, Dan and Melissa Meech. After Dan Meech, came Andrew Valdina, another nephew of Cooper's, who was a star wrestler at Dracut High School and now resides in Chelmsford. Following him included David Durante, Chris Teixeira and then Timmy Lepore and his stepfather Larry Gamst, who has recovered from his own addiction with alcohol.

After Melissa Meech, the other top Tewksbury female finishers included Karen and Jaclyn Giasullo, Kimarie Collins – the daughter of MaryEllen Cooper.

Cooper said she is expecting another record-setting amount of participants.

Runners and Walkers of all abilities are welcome. You may register online or you may register the day of the race for $35. Special rates for ages 17 and under. Registration and Bib pick up starts at 7:00 am, the day of the event with starting time for the 5K at 9:00 am. You can register by going to: www.lightbox.com/recovery2018.

If you have questions or would like to help sponsor the event, you may send an email to: intoactionrecovery2015@gmail.com.

During last year's second annual Into Action Recovery 5K Road Race, Timmy Lepore and his stepfather Larry Gamst finished fourth and fifth respectively out of all of the Tewksbury male participants. (file photo)

Wilmington High Volleyball team drops first two matches of the season

By MARK NADEAU
Sports Correspondent
marknad26@gmail.com

WILMINGTON - After getting swept by Middlesex League Liberty rivals Woburn and Belmont in the first two matches of the season, the Wilmington High girls' volleyball team has been using the past few days to refocus and try starting anew with a more determined attitude.

Wildcats' coach Bruce Shainwald still likes what he has in terms of a balanced lineup, but the players have to change their ways quickly in order to avoid getting swallowed up in the highly competitive Middlesex League.

The season began a week ago Wednesday when Wilmington paid a visit to Torrice Gym to face the Tanners, who were coming off an 18-win campaign in 2017.

Woburn never let the Wildcats get into the match, taking control early and easily prevailing in straight sets, 25-16, 25-11, 25-15.

"We didn't receive serve very well right off the bat and that set the tone for the rest of the match," said Shainwald, of the match with the Tanners. "We couldn't get the girls to come back and refocus. That was a tough thing."

There were some bright spots for Wilmington, including three kills and a block for sophomore Kylie Ducharme, who was making her varsity debut.

Maeve Cadogan and Julia Wilson also had blocks, and Cadogan also had two service aces. Raegan Sweeney had two service aces as well.

Brittany Cimaglia had a good day with nine digs and eight assists. Khrystyna Fedynyak had 11 digs and Gabby Bond had eight digs.

"This is a much more - skill-wise - closely matched set of girls, so I was really expecting them to compete much better," said Shainwald. "I wasn't expecting that kind of performance out of them. I was expecting them to keep balls in play and pushing balls back at Woburn and have them make mistakes."

Shainwald thought maybe playing at the friendly confines of Wilmington High Gym might change the Wildcats' fortunes, but it was not the case. Belmont got off to fast start as well and took it to Wilmington throughout in a 25-16, 25-19, 25-16 victory.

Cimaglia stood out in the match with the Lady Marauders with seven digs and six assists. Fedynyak also had seven digs, while Bond had six digs.

Ducharme had three more kills, Sweeney and Cadogan had two service aces, and Cadogan added a block.

"We saw the same thing Friday with Belmont where the girls really did not come out very strong," said Shainwald. "We are looking at what do we need to change in the practice gym in order to get us to be more competitive."

Shainwald has been stressing for the Wildcats to be more aggressive and and to pound the ball, reasoning it is better to hit the ball over the net and into the wall rather than hit it into the net.

The aggressive approach at the net is coming along with the Wildcats, but now the players have to figure out how to be smart with shot placement. Otherwise, Wilmington's opponents will have it much easier, waiting it out for their opponents to make all the mistakes with their shots

"Now I am trying to get them to find the court rather than just blasting the ball," said Shainwald. "We are working on that and it's a work in progress right now."

The Wildcats had their first chance to see how far they had progressed at Reading on Wednesday. Their next match after that is Friday (5:30 p.m.) at Melrose.

Fourth Annual Alonardo Memorial 5K Event, October 6

The fourth annual Tony Alonardo Memorial 5K Road Race event will take place on Saturday, October 6th at the Town Common.

The race starts at 9 am. You can register online through October 4th at racewire.com -- search for Tony Alonardo registration. Walk-up registration will be held the morning of the race beginning at 7:30 am (cash or checks only please).

A free t-shirt will be given out to the first 100 registrants. Additional t-shirts will be available for purchase the day of the event for $20.

"This will be the fourth year of the race and next year will be the last," said Donna Alonardo, Tony's wife and one of the organizers of the race. "When we began the race, it was projected to be a five-year event."

All of the proceeds from the race will go to a yearly scholarship in honor of Tony Alonardo. The scholarship is given to a WHS senior, and the recipient has to have participated in at least one sport at any level at the high school, and also submit a one page essay.

To date almost $10,000 has been given out in scholarships to various graduating seniors over the years.

Some of the money raised also is used to help offset college expenses for Tony's two daughters.

"It is a great day to celebrate the wonderful town of Wilmington and those who volunteer so much of their own time to better the lives of our youth," said Donna. "Tony's passion was hockey and he spent countless years volunteering in the Wilmington Youth Hockey program as well as the Wilmington Girls High School Hockey team."

You may also send donations and may do so by a check to: Tony Alonardo Fund Inc., 296 Shawsheen Ave, #8; For credit card donations, please enter your donation amount on the Racewire Form in the additional donations sections or at "www.TonyA5K.com."

"It is always a feel good day for all who participate celebrating the life of a great guy who gave so much of his time to benefit so many kids," said Donna. "Every year Tony has found a way to let us know that he is there! Can't wait to see what happens this year."

In-Town Youth Soccer kicks off another season

Girls Grade 2 Games:
Sky Blue FC
vs. Seattle Reign

Nobody stayed home for this action-packed game. The Sky Blue FC's Bridget Bloom scored, getting the crowd jumping out of their seats. Outstanding offense by Madison Scanlon, Suki Harper, Callie Lamarche, Lila Rosa, and Emma Moriarty set up many scoring chances.

The flawless defense of Kiera Barry, Pauline Douzepis. Mikayla Field, Alexis Wang, and Mia Constantimo provided great protection for the goalkeepers, Caitlin Barret and Julia Marra.

Utah Royals
vs. Washington Spirit

The air was full of excitement, as the much-anticipated match between the Utah Royals and the Washington Spirit commenced. Fantastic ball skill were displayed by Kylie Afthim, Kaylee Chan, Nyla Chimwanda resulting in goals by Isabella DeOliveira, Emily Falk and Keli Tkachuk.

The midfield and defensive play of Alexa Rivera, Alaina Roy, Emily Viveiros and Reighan Glover kept the Utah Royals in excellent shape. The crowd roared to their feet when Olivia Howie, Olivia Marasca and Kelsie Morrow made some spectacular saves.

Boys Grade 1 Games:
Columbus Crew
vs. DC United

In what could have been confused as a World Cup game, the Columbus Crew started off strong with great offensive pressure from Levi Delleo and Tyler Shellgren. Coupled with the defensive efforts of Alki Rozopoulos, Maxwell Andrew and Jackson Pysz, their efforts made for an incredible game. Bobby King and Max Patterson scored for the home team.

Wilmington's goalie April Haines makes a stop while getting help from a host of defenders including Molly Foley and Emily Gear, in the team's 1-0 season opener win over Tewksbury played earlier this month. (photo by Jim Vaiknoras).

Field Hockey team defeated by Belmont

Nolan Fitzgerald, playing in his first ever match , coming out on top by a score of 5-4, while junior Pat McCarthy also playing in his first match tied 4 ½ - 4 ½ .

"We won nine more total holes than our previous match so we are improving," Wilmington coach Steve Lynch said.

FIELD HOCKEY

The Wildcats had just one game this week due to the cancellation of last Thursday's game with Woburn (no make-up date yet) and the 'Cats were defeated by a very strong Belmont team, 8-0. Wilmington is now 1-1 on the season and faced Reading on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime, before going to Melrose on Friday afternoon (4:00 pm) and then coming home to face Burlington on Tuesday night at 5:30 pm.

Also Athletic Director Tim Alberts announced the time for the home game on Friday, October 12th has been changed from 4:00 pm to 5:30 pm.

CORRECTION

In last week's feature story on WHS Field Hockey captain Molly Foley, it was reported that she is the youngest of six children, however she is the youngest of seven children as her brother Quinton was forgotten by this reporter. He played soccer and tennis during his athletic days at WHS. We apologize for the omission.

Sarah Berube named NEWMAC Defensive Player of the Week

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

Clark University sophomore defender Sarah Berube earned her first New England Women's and Men's Athletic Conference (NEWMAC) weekly award as she was named the Women's Soccer Defensive Athlete of the Week as announced by the conference office on Monday morning.

Sarah Berube in action for the Clark University Women's Soccer team. She was named the NEWMAC Defensive Player of the Week. (courtesy photo/CU).

In a 2-0-1 week for the Cougars, Berube led the defensive line. Clark allowed just one goal scored in three games and Berube recorded a goal when she tied the Worcester State game at 1-1 with a successful penalty kick. The Cougars went on to defeat the Lancers 3-1 on Saturday. The Cougars are now 3-0-1 this season.

Sarah's sister, RPI University senior forward Erin Berube has seen action in two of the three Engineers games this season, playing 32 minutes in a season opening 2-1 win over Western Connecticut State on August 31 and 16 minutes in a 1-0 loss to Farmingdale State on September 1.

Lenoir-Rhyne University Stephanie Figuerido scored the game winning goal, the only goal of the game, in the Bears 1-0 victory over Saint Leo last Friday night. Figuerido's goal, which came at the 54-minute mark, was her first goal of the season and her second career game winner.

Clarion University sophomore midfielder Julianna Iocco has played in all three games for the Golden Eagles so far this season, starting one of the contests. Iocco is coming off a freshman season where she played in all 14 games for the Golden Eagles, starting in seven of them, scoring one goal while adding three assists.

Merrimack College freshman defender Liz Gordon has already worked her way into the Warriors lineup, having seen action in two of the Warriors three game this season, helping them to a 2-1 record.

Gordon was a two-time Middlesex League All-Star at Wilmington High, and was voted to the Lowell Sun second team in her senior year.

Bentley University freshman midfielder Dana Goulet has earned a spot on the Falcons Women's Soccer team, and she is already contributing to the team's success, having played in all three of their games and starting two contests for the 2-0-1 Falcons.

Brandeis University sophomore midfielder Daria Bakhtiari had a goal in each of the Judges past two games, first on September 2 in a 4-0 win over Lasell, and more recently in a 4-1 win over Johnson & Wales this past Saturday. Bakhtiari's two goals and four points are tied for the team lead, while her eight shots on goal leads the Judges.

Bridgewater State junior goalie Kellie Souza has played well in the early going of the season despite the Bears 0-1-1 start. Souza made three saves in the Bears season opening loss to UMass Dartmouth last Thursday and turned in an outstanding 15-save performance in a 2-0 loss to MIT last Saturday.

Northeastern University freshman midfielder Kayla McCauley made her collegiate debut back on August 24, playing ten minutes in the Huskies 2-1 loss at Long Beach State, in Long Beach, California.

McCauley earned four varsity letters as a midfielder/forward at Wilmington High, helping the team to Middlesex League championships from 2013-16, including an undefeated regular seasons from 2014-16 and an appearance in the state finals in 2013.

Southern Vermont University sophomore midfielder Jayne Wierzbicki made her season debut on Saturday during a 1-0 Mountaineers loss to Mount Holyoke, getting off three shots in the loss.

Wierzbicki had missed the first three games of the season, and is coming off a tremendous sophomore season where she led the team with 11 goals and 24 points in 18 games played.

Worcester State junior defender Christina Spinos made her season debut this past weekend for the Lancers after missing the first four games of the season. Spinos had a shot on goal in the Lancers 4-0 loss. Last season, Spinos started all 18 games for the Lancers.

Three former Wilmington High Soccer stars are teammates once again with the Salem State Soccer team. Senior defender Kaitlyn Curley, along with juniors Devyn Malatesta, a defender, and Casey McFall (who did move to Townsend, Mass), a midfielder, have each started and played all three games for the Vikings in the early going of the season.

On the Men's side at Salem State, another former Wilmington High star, Vikings sophomore midfielder Justin Leger, made his collegiate debut back on September 5 in a 3-0 win over Becker.

Westfield State senior forward Jimmy Murphy has started all three games for the Owls this season, after starting six games last season and seeing action in 17 contests the year before.

Worcester State senior forward Ryan Kinsella has started two of the Lancers five games this season, following a junior season that saw him see action in ten games, starting seven of those contests.

FIELD HOCKEY

Bridgewater State graduate student Katherine McKenna has started both games for the Bears this season, helping lead them to a 1-1 record after a 6-2 win over Johnson & Wales and a 2-1 overtime loss to Plymouth State. McKenna, a defender/midfielder started all 17 games for the Bears last season, scoring one goal and adding three assists.

Rivier University junior midfielder Jaclyn Fraser had a pair of assists in the Raiders season opening win over Dean on August 31. Fraser followed that up with five shots on net in a 1-0 loss to Regis on Saturday.

Fraser started all 15 games for the Raiders last season, scoring two goals and adding two assists, while also having 14 shots on goal.

WPI junior forward Bridget Sullivan had a goal and an assist in the Engineers 5-0 win over Elms on Saturday, helping the Engineers improve their record on the young season to 3-0. Sullivan enters her junior season after a sophomore campaign that saw her play all 16 games, notching four goals in the process.

UMass Lowell freshman goalie Rose Cuozzo has earned a spot on the River Hawks NCAA Division One roster. Cuozzo was a three year varsity team member at Wilmington High and was a two-time Middlesex League All-Star, as well as being named Team MVP as a junior and an All-America Second Team honoree as a sophomore.

Johnson & Wales freshman forward Jillian Miele has earned a spot on the Wildcats roster. Miele joins the JW Wildcats after an outstanding career as a Wilmington High Wildcat, where she was a three-time Middlesex League All-Star, and a two-time Lowell Sun All-Star.

Miele holds the Wilmington High School all-time record for most goals and points, scoring 30 goals her senior year when she served as the Wildcats captain.

FOOTBALL

Endicott College freshman running back John Kenney has made an immediate impact at the college level for the Gulls, starting each of the team's first two games and becoming the team's leading rusher. Kenney began his college career with 57 yards rushing in a 34-13 loss to Framingham State on September 1, and followed that up with 54 yards rushing in a 17-3 win over Bridgewater State last Friday night.

JOHN KENNEY

Merrimack College freshman linebacker Tyler Roberts had three total tackles (one solo) and a fumble recovery during the Warriors 49-19 loss to Assumption on Saturday. Roberts also had three tackles (two solo) in his college debut the week before in a 30-16 loss to Bloomsburg.

Bryant University sophomore quarterback Robby DuCharme is back for his second season with the Bulldogs. Ducharme was a three sport star at Wilmington High, where he was a three-year varsity letter winner with the football team, and also earned three varsity letters in baseball and two in basketball and was named a 2017 Middlesex League All-Star in baseball as a senior.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Worcester State junior Elisabeth Olson earned a fourth place finish at the Jim Sheehan Memorial Invitational back on September 1, helping to lead the Lancers to the first place team finish in the nine team field. Olson conquered the 5K course in a time of 19:37.

Olson followed up that fine performance with another great effort this past weekend, earning a third place finish at the Worcester City Meet on Saturday, finishing the 6K race in a time of 25:05.

ROAD RACES

A handful of Wilmington residents took part in two prestigious and popular road races recently.

At the MR8K, A Run for Gratitude held in Boston on September 3rd, Joseph Smith was the top local finisher as he was 232nd overall at 43:56. He was followed by: Jennifer Bolanos (322, 46:05), Elaine Miner (413, 47:57), Charles Fiore III (611, 51:23), Rebecca Heaney (619, 51:27), Kevin Griffin (800, 55:10), Louis Farkas (858, 56:31), Craig and Griffin Miner (1,377 and 1,378 at 12:44.8) and Brian Farkas (1,453 at 1:34.12).

At the Salem Road Race 10K, the top local finisher was old friend Ken Warren, who was 32 overall with a time of 38:55. He was followed by: David Pilla (149, 44:18), Zack Sears (537, 50:25), Richard Ferrari (664, 51:52), Steven Ditullio (741, 52:48), Christina LaChance (794, 53:25), Lindsay Weatherbee (923, 54:48), Stephen Delaney (1,019, 55:47), Jennifer Picard (1,029, 55:55), Jessica Weber (1,136, 57:12), Eric Piazza (1,274, 58:36), Aliza Gramza (1,358, 59:31), Jenn Helmar (1,400, 1:00.07), Marcia Vozzella (1,462, 1:00.51), Dan King (1,487, 1:01.07), Jennifer King (1,542, 1:02.06), Andrea Rego (1,617, 1:03.15), Maria Keeley (1,627, 1:03.26), Kristen Gake (1,735, 1:05.07), Darlene Bischoff (1,738, 1:05.08), Emily Wagner (1,785, 1:05.54), Michelle Chamberlain (1,834, 1:06.50), Mary Young (1,989, 1:08.26), Cristina Warren (1,899, 1:08.27), Laura Cataldi (1,943, 1:09.47), Ava Garrant (2,108, 1:12.03), Kristen Edwards (2,112, 1:16.47) and Ellyn Delaney (2,229, 1:42.03).

Rams Cross-Country teams running for successful seasons

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Tech Boys and Girls Cross Country teams each kicked off their season on Wednesday afternoon, hosting CAC rivals Greater Lowell and Minuteman, and while the results of those meets were not available as of the Town Crier's press time, both teams entered their seasons with high expectations after very successful campaigns last year.

The Girls team ran their way to a 9-2 regular season record, while also finishing second at both the CAC Championship Meet as well as the State Vocational Meet.

The Boys meanwhile, had a very good season of their own, going 8-2 and finishing third at the State Vocational Meet.

Both teams did suffer some key losses to graduation, but both also bring back plenty of talent to make another run at the CAC title.

Leading the way for the girls team this season will be senior captains Ivana Wisky of Tewksbury and Alex DiPerri, each of whom were among the Lady Rams top runners last season.

The team does lose a pair of excellent runners in Jackie Broderick and Alesha Talbot, but coach Pat Kelly, entering his fourth season with Shawsheen, feels like his team has the talent to overcome the losses.

"We feel that we can do well again this year," Kelly said. "We did lose two key contributors but we have a strong core of veterans and I think they are going to carry us to another great season."

Among the core of veterans that Kelly will be counting on most will be senior Hayleigh Perry of Tewksbury, along with sophomores Kelley DeLosh, Rachael Halas and Jenna Johnson, while he will also be looking for big contribution from several newcomers, including seniors Emily Morris, junior Jessica Stevens of Wilmington and freshmen Emily Dagenais and Madison Valente.

"We are certainly shooting for 9-2 again, and we are actually hoping to improve upon that," Kelly said. "We have very high hopes for this team and I think we have the talent to do it."

It will not be easy, however, for the Lady Rams to take the title, as Kelly knows his team will be challenged each time they take to the course.

"Greater Lowell is a top team, but Whittier and Greater Lawrence are always good teams as well," Kelly said. "We have a big meet with the two of them here in October. Essex has also come a long way and they keep improving, so there are no easy meets."

On the boys side, the Rams will be looking to duplicate last season's success despite losing three of their top five runners from last season, having said goodbye to number two RJ Page and number five Tom Strow of Wilmington, along with sophomore Antavious Nordquist, who took his talents to the Rams football team after slotting into the number four slot last year as a freshman.

The losses certainly seem heavy, but much like with the girls, Kelly remains confident, particularly given that he does bring back last season's number one runner, senior Ryan Smith and last year's number three, senior Steve Basler of Tewksbury.

"Obviously we are shooting for a winning season. I think they can do just as well as they did last year," Kelly said. "If we had Antavious back, we were projected to be the number one boys team. Without him, we might not be number one, but we should still have as good a year as we had last year."

Along with Smith and Basler, Kelly will also be looking for fellow returnees like senior Nick Tuccelli and sophomores Dan Lee and Alex Smith, along with several newcomers including seniors Anthony DiCesare, Kyle MacDonald, junior Cole Privetera, sophomore Matthew Hemenway and freshman Joe D'Ampolo.

"Ryan was second overall in league meet and second overall in state vocational meet, so we have high hopes for him, as well as his younger brother, Alex," Kelly said. "Also another sophomore, Dan Lee is doing well, plus we have some juniors and seniors who came back who feel can slip into those roles."

Shawsheen will compete with Whittier, Greater Lawrence and Greater Lowell for the top spot in the CAC. While Kelly knows his team will have their hands full in the battle for the league crown, there is no denying his team's confidence that they can get the job done.

"The boys and girls, both of them are very excited for the season. On the boys side, when you bring a runner back (Ryan Smith) who was number two in the league and number two in the state, the kids definitely notice it and they want to train hard because they know they are building around that strong talent," Kelly said. "They are coming out and working hard, and they want the championship, both the boys and the girls."

Alumni 5K Race

On Saturday, October 6, the Shawsheen Alumni Association will host their annual 5K Cross Country Race, which will be held on the campus of Shawsheen Tech and run on Shawsheen's cross country course and oval track. This annual event has become a tradition on Homecoming Weekend, and is always a great time for Shawsheen alumni, current students and the general public.

The race, which is open to the public, will begin at 9:00 a.m. and will be run rain or shine. Pre-Registration fee is $15 for those who register prior to September 30, and will be $20 on the day of the race, with proceeds to support the Shawsheen Tech Alumni Fund. The registration fee is waived for all current Shawsheen students.

There will be free parking on Shawsheen Tech campus, and trophies will be awarded to all first, second and third place finishers. Post-race food and beverages provided

"If you are looking for a good, old fashioned, no frills cross country race, then this is the place to be," Shawsheen assistant cross country coach Dan Dorazio said. "There aren't many of those around."

Runners can pre-register at http://www.eventbrite.com (Search Shawsheen 5K), or mail check payable to "Shawsheen Tech Alumni" to P.O. Box 59, Pinehurst, MA 01866.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Rams Volleyball team off to a terrific 3-0 start

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

The Shawsheen Tech Volleyball team entered this season looking to improve on last season's 5-14 record, and so far they are looking primed to do just that, as they went 3-0 in their opening week of play, with several outstanding performances throughout their roster.

The Lady Rams started their week and their season with an exciting 3-2 win over Fellowship last Tuesday. Shawsheen got off to a bit of a slow start in this one, but rebounded nicely to come away with the win.

Senior Brooke Johnson, junior Brooke Bicknell, and sophomore Sophia Rego of Wilmington passed well for the Lady Rams, while senior Marissa Brangiforte of Tewksbury served well.

Shawsheen was back in action last Thursday, and they rolled to a 3-0 win over Chelsea, with Johnson and Brangiforte once again leading the way, Johnson with her defense, and Brangiforte once again with her serving.

Shawsheen coach Anne DeMarco has been happy with the serves and overall play of both of her liberos on the team, Brangiforte and Rego.

"I have been alternating them in games because they are both doing a terrific job. They are both great communicators, they are both fast, and they both do a good job running the defense," DeMarco said. "They both have consistent serves but Marissa has been killing it at the end-line. She had 13 service points against Chelsea and a total of 20 service points for the season. Marissa has only been a major contributor in two out of our three games because she was recovering from an injury during our first game. So, that's 20 service points in just two games."

The Lady Rams wrapped up their week with a 3-2 win over Greater Lowell last Friday, with junior Deanne Goguen doing a great job running the offense, while senior Cassidy Bulmer led the team in kills and service points.

DeMarco has obviously been pleased with what she has seen so far this season, but she also knows there is a long way to go.

"I am very happy with the way the team has been playing and it is wonderful to have a 3-0 record but we have a long way to go and a lot of tough teams to play," DeMarco said. "This week we have Essex Tech and Whittier, both will be a battle. To win these games my team needs to start each game strong and stay physically and mentally tough throughout the match.

"They know what they have to do and they are ready to do it. The girls have been working hard in practice and they have been doing everything I ask of them. They are a smart group of girls who play smart. Each player knows their job on the court, they are good at their jobs, and they are ready to step-up and be there for each other."

Shawsheen will be back in action this week with a pair of road games, traveling to Haverhill to take on Whittier on Thursday, before once again hitting the road to take on Austin Prep next Monday

BOYS SOCCER

The Shawsheen Boys Soccer team is off to a good start to their season, with a 2-1 record in their first three games, sandwiching wins over Greater Lowell and Lynn Tech around a loss to Chelsea.

In their season opening win over Greater Lowell the Rams pulled out a dramatic 1-0 thriller over their arch rivals.

The two teams battled through a long game in oppressive heat with the Rams finally able to pull off the victory when senior Jared Rizzo of Wilmington scored late in the game to break the scoreless deadlock.

The Rams forced the action in the first half while Greater. Lowell did the same in the second half. With players from both teams cramping up because of the conditions the game was looking like a deadlock until Rizzo blasted home the winner on a long shot that just eluded the goalies outstretched hands. Elias Flaounas was credited with the assist on the goal.

Shawsheen senior captain and goalie Mike Reppucci of was outstanding earning the shutout on his birthday. Also playing well for Shawsheen was Gavin Pigott, Jason Myers, Jose Cruz and Matt Pustizzi.

After a loss to Chelsea last Friday, the Rams were back in action this Tuesday at home where they pulled out a 3-1 win over Lynn Tech.

The Rams second win of the young season was also the 375th of coach Tom Severo's career. Severo came to Shawsheen four years ago after a legendary career at Billerica High.

Jason Myers two first half goals sandwiched around another goal by Rizzo gave Shawsheen a commanding 3-0 first half lead. Lynn Tech scored one late in the game but could not avoid suffering their first loss of the season at the hands of the Rams.

Rizzo had two assists to go along with his goal, while Tyler Archibald and goalie Mike Reppucci had one each.

Playing well for Shawsheen were Pigott, Matt Pustizzi and Flaounas.

The Rams will be back in action on Thursday when they host CAC rival Northeast Metro Tech.

Wilmington Pee Wee 2's battle Cambridge on the cold ice

The Wilmington Wildcats Pee-Wee 2 youth hockey team opened its 2018-19 season this past Sunday morning against a solid Cambridge Falcons squad.

The combination of an early 7am start and one of our first chilly fall mornings could do nothing to keep these kids, coaches. (and most parents), from an excited kick-off to the new season.

The teams took to a fresh sheet of ice at Medford's Flynn Memorial Rink surrounded by shivering friends and family for what would prove to be a close one.

The Wildcats broke through first with a goal by Nicholas DiGiovanni early in the period assisted by linemates Ryan Flynn and Ryan Weinstein. The "Ryans" both wrapped their arms around Nicholas as the puck was still spinning in circles behind the frustrated Cambridge goaltender.

Wilmington had its first goal of the new season and it was a nice one! The lead didn't last long as Cambridge came back with a speedy rush through the neutral zone that lead to a clean breakaway on goaltender Dylan Ward. Cambridge's first shot of the game resulted in a 1-1 tie score with just over three minutes left to go in period one.

The second period opened fast with Wilmington's Connor Lynch winning a key face-off deep in the Cambridge zone that lead to Matthew Newhouse regaining the lead out front, putting away a beautiful pass from Devin Medeiros to make it 2-1 in Wilmington's favor. Newhouse pumped his fists in celebration as his linemates celebrated behind him all the way back to the bench.

That was all Dylan Ward would need as he held strong between the pipes, only allowing the Falcons their single first period tally.

The period continued with the Wildcats wearing Cambridge down with some solid two-way hockey, controlling the flow of the game and outworking the Falcons at every turn. Captain Thomas Foley anchored an iron curtain defense that consisted of sister Corrine Foley, Aaron Tarr and Derek Sun. Time and again what looked like a scoring opportunity for Cambridge was smothered before proving to be fatal.

The Wildcats defense was solid from start to finish in this one and deserved every high-five and congratulatory helmet slap that came their way shift after shift.

Coach Todd Flynn had to be proud as the third period saw his club continue to do what it took to keep this game out of reach. The constant hardwork of the Jase Mansi, Jake Carr and Aaden Caralis line finally paid dividends midway through the third period when Jake Carr buried a gift of a rebound in traffic out front of the Cambridge goaltender, making it 3-1 in favor of the Wildcats.

Carr looked like a Salisbury clam-digger on this one as he jammed the puck home from his knees. Wilmington never looked back on their way to protecting their 3-1 lead and eventually winning their season opener in fine fashion.

The Wildcats next game is this Saturday at the Lawrence Valley Forum against another viable opponent in the Rochester Pee Wee-A team.

BANTAM 1's

The Wilmington Wildcats Bantam 1 youth hockey team started off the season with a 1-0 win over the Andover Warriors on Saturday afternoon at Pingree School in South Hamilton.

The Wildcats showed up ready to play against a very evenly matched opponent. In the first period the action was fast with both teams getting lots of scoring opportunities.

Justin Finnegan played fantastic between the pipes for Wilmington stopping every shot. The Cats had several good scoring chances with offensive efforts from Christopher Patterson and his wingmates Dylan Mullarky and Nicholas Spencer. Ryan Murray and Ryan Bornstein also played solid defensively on that same line.

Wilmington moved the puck well thoughout the game with some great breakout passes and good hard skating. With just under two minutes remaining in the first period Will O'Shea collected a pass from Brett Gallucci and ripped a hard wrist shot on net, Cam Gagnon picked up the rebound and finished it off to give the Wildcats a 1-0 lead.

Andover battled back but the stand up defense from Jack Andersen and Will LaMonica, combined with great goaltending from Finnegan, kept the Warriors off the scoreboard.

Wilmington found themselves shorthanded early in the second period but Finnegan came up with more big saves. The Cats killed the penalty and were back on the attack, Alex Burns and wingers Mike Maselli and Michael Sullivan nearly extended Wilmington's lead with some nice passing down low in the offensive zone. Andover's goalie had to make a big save on Maselli right in front of the net. Jacob Smith and Bobby Dodge also had a strong game defensively for the Wildcats.

Entering the final period, the Warriors fought hard to get even in the game. Andover pulled their goalie late in the game to try and tie it up with no luck.

The Wildcats stayed strong and captured the win in a very exciting first game: Gagnon's first period goal proved to be the game winner and Finnegan earned a well deserved shutout. A total team effort is credited with the win.

Under 12-1 soccer team takes pair of games

B12-1

Wilmington 5, Chelsea 2

The Wilmington 12-1 boys youth travel soccer team started their fall season at the North Reading Fall Kick-Off Classic. Their first game was against Chelsea.

Lukas Poirier started the scoring for the season when Casey Lanagan passed the ball to Lukas off a short corner. He then took the ball and put it in the back of the net for the first goal of the season for the boys.

A few minutes later Jackson McDonald intercepted the opponent's goal kick and played Lukas through on net. Lukas went around Chelsea's defender and scored to make it 2-0.

Shortly before half-time Chelsea scored to make it 2-1. Right after Chelsea scored, Kaleb Molina and Lincoln Levesque's strong offensive pressure and connecting play allowed Jack Murphy to have a shot that could've made it 3-1, but unfortunately hit the post.

Right after that, Jackson played Casey up the wing. Casey then crossed the ball to Lukas who took a shot. His shot was deflected, but it went back to Casey who shot and scored to make it 3-1 just before the half.

The second half started off strong with Casey switching the field from the left to the right. Tyler Florencio received the ball, then crossed it back to Casey who played it back to Jackson at the top of the box. Jackson took the ball and chipped it with his opposite foot over the keeper's head to make it 4-1.

The defensive wall of Layne Coutu, Oliver Ferrer, and Danny O'Mahony held Chelsea's talented offense to only two goals. Then, as the game was ending Jack Bourque made a save and threw the ball out to Lukas who scored a goal off a breakaway to make it 5-2, which stood the rest of the way.

Wilmington 4, N. Reading 2

In their third game of the North Reading tournament and for the second straight game, the Wilmington Wildcats Boys U12-1 team went down 2-0 early. But later in the first half Jack Bourque stole the North Reading Rebels goal kick and scored from 25 yards out.

Before the half ended, Wilmington scored again to tie the game at 2-2. This time Jack Murphy stepped forward to poke the ball away from a defender over to Lincoln Levesque who then passed it to Jack Bourque at the top of the box who scored again.

The beginning of the second half was a struggle as Wilmington had many chances but failed to capitalize on any of them with Casey Lanagan and Kaleb Molina having most of the chances. Casey had multiple shots from rough angles that almost snuck in. Kaleb almost put in a rebound and Lukas Poirier had a mini breakaway that went wide.

Jackson McDonald came into the game in the second half. He took a shot from outside that the goalie tipped and Marcelo almost tipped in.

Then with about ten minutes left in the game Layne Coutu stole the ball and passed it up to Murphy who then found Jack who set up Lincoln for the game winning goal.

Five minutes later Tyler Marinho punted the ball up to Jack who then passed to Casey who put the game out of reach.

The defense played great the entire second half and didn't allow North Reading much time to score. Layne and Zack Guyette stopped North Reading's attack and Oliver Ferrer and Danny O'Mahoney pushed forward on counter attacks to get several crosses across. Tyler Marinho and Tyler Florencio combined to shut out North Reading for the final 40 minutes.

With the win, the Wildcats advanced to the tournament finals.
